The Hows and Whys of Selling Chametz

Q: What is the basis for selling our chametz?

A: The Torah forbids us from possessing chametz during the festival of Pesach, and instructs us to destroy our chametz on erev Pesach. Chametz that remains in a Jew's property over Pesach becomes prohibited for use (assur b'hana'ah) even after Pesach, whether the chametz remained in his possession on purpose or through oversight. Hiding the chametz from sight does not help in this respect.

If we own a large amount of chametz and we wish to avoid incurring the financial loss that its destruction would invite, we are permitted to sell it to a non-Jew.

It is insufficient to merely sell our chametz to a non-Jew; we must also rent the location of the chametz to the non-Jew. Only once we have taken both of these steps are we permitted to leave the chametz in our homes without violating the prohibitions of bal yeira'eh and bal yimatze – because the chametz now belongs to a non-Jew and is located in the area he is renting.

Q: How long has the custom of selling the chametz existed?

A: The concept of selling chametz to a non-Jew as a means of avoiding ownership of chametz during Pesach appears in a Mishnah at the beginning of the second chapter of tractate Pesachim. The Tosefta mentions the theoretical option of buying the chametz back from the non-Jew after Pesach. During the era of the early Poskim, a recommendation was made of making such a sale. In subsequent times, selling the chametz was presented as a practical course of action, and was included as such in the Shulchan Aruch. Eventually, the custom became dominant throughout Jewry.

Q: Why is it necessary to have a Rav arrange the sale?

A: There are multiple laws involved in making such a sale. It is therefore customary to sign an “authorization form” designating a rabbi familiar with these laws as our emissary to execute the transaction on our behalf in full accordance with halachah.

According to the view of the Alter Rebbe (in his Seder Mechiras Chametz), if the transaction does not comply with all of the halachic requirements, the owner of the chametz will have transgressed the prohibitions of bal yeira'eh and bal yimatze on a biblical basis (mide'oraisa). The Alter Rebbe adds specific requirements to the standard methods of transaction. Some of these details are significant enough that otherwise the entire sale might be rendered invalid. The most obvious example is the requirement for an areiv kablan, a third-party guarantor to the sale. Accordingly, it is crucial for the sale to be conducted by a Rav.

Q: What exactly do we do?

A: We fill in the authorization form that is supplied by the Rabbonim, specifying the locations* in which our chametz is to be found. We then perform a kinyan sudar with the rabbi (by lifting an item belonging to the Rav). It is important to inform the Rav if we are planning to travel elsewhere for Pesach. According to custom, we pay the Rav for his efforts in this sale.

*See details below

Q: What does the authorization note include?

A: The authorization note is a form that authorizes the rabbi to sell our chametz and also to rent out the location in which the chametz is found, in the manner he deems appropriate. On the form, we must specify all the locations in which our chametz exists. In addition to the form, we are encouraged to make a kinyan sudar with the rabbi.

Q: What is a kinyan sudar?

A: According to halachah, it is insufficient to conduct any transaction in which an item is transferred from one person's ownership to another's based on a verbal agreement alone. An act of acquisition is essential. This is because the present owner must have sincerely resolved to transfer ownership of the item to the other person. The person acquiring the item also relies on the sincerity of the decision. In order to be certain that the owner truly resolved to make the transaction, we perform an act of acquisition such as a kinyan sudar:

The person acquiring the item hands something of his own to the original owner—common practice calls for the witnesses to a transaction to offer such an object for this purpose. The owner then raises the object he was handed, thereby making the transaction effective.

When we authorize a rabbi to sell our chametz we do not technically require a kinyan sudar. That is because the rabbi is not purchasing our chametz. He is merely acting as our agent to sell it to a non-Jew. We are nevertheless accustomed to perform such an act through raising a garment, or another object belonging to the rabbi, in order to confirm that our request that he act on our behalf is made in earnest.

Q: Is it necessary to read the entire form?

A: It is preferable, although not essential. It is certainly not desirable to make the authorization unthinkingly, out of habit. Rather, we must realize that we are truly and completely selling our chametz in a binding sale. For that reason, if we failed to read the document but are nevertheless familiar with its purpose and we truly intend to make the sale, our sale is valid.

Q: Until what point can we still sell our chametz?

A: Once the time of bi'ur chametz has passed, any chametz that we still own becomes assur ba-hana'ah, meaning that the Torah forbids us to derive any benefit from it whatsoever. At that point, it is no longer possible to sell our chametz. It is therefore highly inadvisable to wait until the last moments before the bi'ur chametz deadline to authorize our sale. We are advised to come to the office of the Badatz at the earliest opportunity to sell our chametz.

Although the office of the Badatz is open for selling the chametz until Sunday night, Nisan 13, 1:00am, it is strongly advisable to take care of our chametz as early as possible.

Q: Which comes first – filling in the form or making the kinyan sudar?

A: There is no preference—either sequence is fine.

Q: Do we have the custom of handing our keys to the Rav?

A: In Igros Kodesh, the Rebbe writes that in recent times and in many locations, even individuals most scrupulous in their observance of mitzvos do not follow the custom of handing a key to the rabbi when selling their chametz.

Q: Do we need to specify every place in our homes in which chametz will be locked away?

A: We must specify each address that is included in our sale such as homes, offices, cars, vacation homes, storages, and lockers in shul. Likewise, we should include our place of residence over Pesach if we intend to bring there chametz before the zeman and have it included in the sale. In the form, we also add “...and wherever the chametz may be found.” We should be sure to record the exact address of each location, including apartment number, where applicable. However, we do not need to specify each closet within our homes, offices, and the like. This is because the authorization form states clearly that the sale will include all the chametz that is placed in “designated places” within the addresses listed.

We should not move the chametz to another address not recorded on the form.

Q: In addition to recording the name of the person selling the chametz as well as the appropriate addresses, what else must we do?

A: We need to securely shut or lock away all chametz that remains on our properties and that will be sold to a non-Jew, and clearly mark those locations (e.g. tie or tape the doors etc.). There are a number of reasons for this – among them, the need to clarify what exactly is included in the sale, and to prevent us from accidentally accessing these locations during Pesach.

All areas which we are certain contain real chametz, must be sectioned-off with a secure mechitza that is 10 tefachim high. If the chametz is stored in a normal kitchen unit with doors, it is sufficient to close the doors and mark it clearly.

Q: Is there any form of ha'aramah (circumvention, evasion) in this sale?

A: No. According to the Alter Rebbe the sale is absolute in every sense to the extent that it is a valid remedy to avoid the biblical prohibitions of bal yeira'eh and bal yimatze. The Tzemach Tzedek adds that the Alter Rebbe's requirement for an areiv kablan, third-party guarantor, dispels any concern of ha'aramah.

Q: Can we include real chametz in the sale?

A: According to the Alter Rebbe the sale is a totally valid sale (not simply ha'aramah, an “evasion”) and there is therefore no reason not to include actual chametz in the sale. The Chabad Rebbeim personally followed this practice.

Q: If we verbally nullify any chametz that remains in our possession on erev Pesach, must we also sell it to a non-Jew?

A: Chazal insisted that verbally declaring all chametz nullified is insufficient. We must actively search for any chametz, remove it from our property and destroy it. If there is particular chametz that we wish to retain, we can sell that chametz to a non-Jew. However, this chametz is not included in our verbal declaration of nullification because we intend to buy it back from the non-Jew after Pesach.

Q: What is the source of the custom to pay the rabbi for arranging the sale?

A: The practice is ancient and is reported in Sedei Chemed and similar sources. In addition to the obvious reasons such as the actual efforts expended and the need to cover the costs involved in the sale, it is also a means of paying the rabbi for serving the community throughout the year. Halachic sources discuss halachic reasons for this practice which involve the validity of the sale.

Q: Can selling the chametz through a particular rabbi be considered encroaching on another rabbi's jurisdiction or livelihood?

A: Rabbinical responsa discuss at great length the concept of encroaching on the rabbinical jurisdiction of a community rabbi. This is upheld by many contemporary authorities such as Sha'alos u'Teshuvos Sha'arei Ezra, who specifically forbids selling our chametz through someone who has not been designated for this purpose by the Badatz.

Q: If we sign an authorization form at the offices of the Badatz a few days before Pesach, and we then purchase additional chametz, is the new chametz included in the sale?

A: According to the Tzemach Tzedek, yes, it is included in the sale. The authorization form includes an additional clause, in accordance with the suggestion of the Tzemach Tzedek (as an "extra measure") that the Rav is authorized to perform a zechus for us and include in the sale any chametz that may enter our possession up until erev Pesach.

Q: After the time of bi'ur chametz, can we still access an area that was designated as sold to a non-Jew?

A: While processing the transaction with the non-Jew, the rabbis come to an agreement with him whereby he good-naturedly allows the sellers to temporarily access those places that are being sold to him, in cases of necessity. If we do access these locations during Pesach, we must be careful to avoid touching any chametz and to avoid remaining there for any length of time.

If we intend to spend Pesach in the home in which our chametz is sold, or if we are travelling elsewhere but are leaving guests in our home during Pesach, we should not include in the sale of chametz the rooms that will be used over Pesach—because we cannot live in the rooms that have been sold as chametz to a non-Jew.

Q: If we sell our chametz utensils to a non-Jew, must we immerse them in a mikveh after Pesach as is the case when purchasing utensils from a non-Jew?

A: In Likkutei Sichos, the Rebbe explains at length that this is unnecessary because although the non-Jew is technically authorized to make use of the utensils during Pesach, this is highly unlikely to ever occur.

Q: Is there anything else we must do in addition to selling our personal chametz?

A: Yes. In Igros Kodesh, the Rebbe writes that it is a mitzvah to encourage our neighbors and the owners of businesses to sell their chametz as well, in order to avoid the strict prohibitions of owning chametz on Pesach. There is an added benefit in doing so, in that it acts as a much needed reminder to many Jews about the general prohibition of chametz and of the customs and traditions of their ancestors, and the like.

Q: Do we need to search for chametz in those areas that will be sold to a non-Jew?

A: No, common practice is not to search these areas. (The Tzemach Tzedek explains this at length in his halachich correspondence with the Divrei Nechemiah.)

Q: Can we simply sell the entire house to a non-Jew and thereby free ourselves from the obligation to search for chametz?

A: If we are guests in someone's home at that time, we should place some of our own chametz there. This provides us with an opportunity to conduct our own search (though technically it is acceptable if the host searches for our chametz on our behalf). If we do not possess our own chametz, we are not obligated to search at all. If one wishes to be machmir, however, he will make a point of bringing some chametz of his own in order to conduct a search. Some suggest that a guest should purchase the room in which he is staying from his host (using a purchase method that is halachically valid). However, it is still advisable to listen to our host recite the blessing over the search that he conducts prior to conducting the search in our rooms.

Q: Are there any conditions under which we cannot sell our chametz?

A: 1. We may sell chametz located in the trunk of our car, provided that we simultaneously sell chametz located within our homes. In such a case, we must specify in our authorization form the details regarding the vehicle, such as its parking spot and license plate number. If possible, it is preferable that the entire car be leased to the non-Jew, and hence one shouldn't drive the car on Chol Hamoed (even if was properly searched and found to be clean from chametz). Nonetheless, according to the strict letter of the law one need not be concerned about this. Still, one should ensure that the trunk is locked and the key is securely stored away.

Needless to say, if we find it difficult to entirely rid our car of chametz, we cannot simply include the entire car in our sale and then ride in it during Pesach.

2. As mentioned above, if we are certain there is absolute chametz in a particular location it is not sufficient to sell the chametz there and mark the location with tape; the area needs to be sectioned off with a proper mechitza of 10 tefachim. In an area where a proper mechitza cannot be arranged, we shouldn't sell the chametz located there; rather, we must dispose of the chametz properly.

3. Halachic authorities debate whether we are able to sell only crumbs of chametz that are worth less than a perutah. True, the text of the sale includes a clause stating that the sale includes chametz that "is not subject to sale and will never be bought by anyone." Nevertheless, this clause does not indicate that the sale extends to only this form of chametz. Therefore, if we have no chametz utensils or other forms of chametz that are worth a perutah, and wish to evade cleaning the house of crumbs, we cannot rely on the sale and must conduct an adequate search to rid our homes of all chametz, in accordance with halachah, on the eve of the fourteenth.

4. If we are aware that we own chametz that is currently in transit—it has been deposited with movers, on a boat or airplane, at a port, or in the mail—we must specify this in our authorization form. Even if we report this in our form, the sale will include this chametz only if we simultaneously sell additional chametz that is located in our homes. If the moving or mail company happens to belong to a Jew, we will need to consult our local Rav for specific instructions.

5. If we own animals that require to be fed chametz on Pesach, we cannot rely on the standard authorization form, and we need to consult our Rav.

6. If members of our household own chametz that is their personal property, they should sell it separately, and they should not rely on the sale conducted by the head of the household.

7. If we will be travelling to a location where Pesach begins earlier than it does in our present location—for example, if we travel from the USA to Eretz Yisrael or Europe—we cannot sell our chametz to the local Rabbonim here in the USA. This is because at the time that the prohibition will affect us on erev Pesach, the sale of chametz will not yet have been conducted here, in the offices of the Badatz.

8. As Chabad Chassidim, we are accustomed not to sell food or beverages that were received from the Rebbe, but to eat or drink them in their entirety before Pesach. This practice is explained at length in Likkutei Sichos.

Q: When can we begin using the chametz that we sold to a non-Jew?

A: We can make use of the chametz that was sold immediately after Pesach has ended. It has always been the custom of the Rabbonim of the Badatz to leave during the Rebbe's farbrengen towards the end of Pesach in order to buy back the chametz from the non-Jew as soon as Pesach has ended.

Q: Where can we study more about the laws and customs of selling the chametz?

A: Shulchan Aruch Admor Ha-Zaken, 448; Seder Mechiras Chametz that appears in Siddur Admor Ha-Zaken and in the commentary Sha'ar Ha-Kolel (authored by HaRav Lavut, the Rebbe's grandfather); Piskei Dinim Le-Admor Ha-Tzemach Tzedek, 448; Ha-Mo'adim Be-Halachah, authored by Rabbi Zevin; and in numerous contemporary halachic compilations.

Day-by-Day Halachic Guide

Detailed instructions on laws and customs for the Festival of Pesach 5774

The following points were distilled from a series of public shiurim that were delivered by

THE BASIC LAWS AND CUSTOMS PRESENTED BELOW ARE DERIVED FROM MULTIPLE SOURCES. HOWEVER, DUE TO A DEARTH OF SPACE AND TIME THEY ARE PRESENTED WITHOUT THEIR REFERENCES AND HALACHIC NOTES. PRIMARY SOURCES INCLUDE: SHULCHAN ARUCH AND COMMENTARIES, HAGGADAH SHEL PESACH IM LIKKUTEI TAAMIM U'MINHAGIM, SEFER HAMINHAGIM CHABAD, LU'ACH COLEL CHABAD, SICHOS AND IGROS KODESH.

THE INTENTION OF THIS SUMMARY IS TO PRESENT SOME OF THE MOST THE RELEVANT LAWS, NOT TO REPLACE EACH PERSON'S OBLIGATION TO REVIEW THE HALACHOS COMPREHENSIVELY.

*) This guide incorporates several reminders about laws that will only be applicable during the Era of Redemption, with the hope that Moshiach will come speedily, allowing us to implement these laws in practice. The concept of studying these halachos is based on several sichos, some of which are quoted below:

"Hashem begs the Jewish people," the Rebbe passionately stated, "to occupy themselves with the study of the laws of the sacrificial orders ... which [as our Sages state,] is considered as if we had actually offered the sacrifices. This study will bring about the actual offerings because it brings [to quote Rambam,] 'King Moshiach [who] will build the Beis Hamikdash ... and restore the laws of the Torah ... so that the Jewish people will again offer the sacrifices ... in accordance with all the mitzvos that are stated in the Torah,' speedily, in our time – literally! [Then, to quote the festival liturgy,] 'We will offer before You there the offerings of our obligations ... in accordance with the commandments of Your will.'" (Likkutei Sichos, vol. 18, p. 341 – Emphasis in original.)

"We must experience greater longing and yearning for the Redemption," the Rebbe demanded. "One of the ways this is accomplished is through studying more Torah on the subjects of the Redemption and the Beis Hamikdash. Studying these topics greatly hastens their actual realization, to the extent that we will go directly from studying these subjects to greet our righteous Moshiach. We will inform him, 'We have just completed studying the laws associated with your coming!' An additional motivation to study these laws is that we must expect Moshiach's arrival each and every day. In that case, these laws [concerning the Redemption and the Beis Hamikdash] are matters that every Jew – men and women alike – must know, in order to put them into practical use on a daily basis, such as many of the laws of the offerings." (From a Sichah addressed to N'shei u'B'nos Chabad – Sefer HaSichos 5750, vol. 2, p. 485.

General Note: the times listed below are for Crown Heights only. Since one can never achieve complete precision, and many factors may influence the accuracy of these times, it is recommended to begin earlier than the time listed and not wait until the last minute (e.g., for the start of Shabbos), or to wait extra time, when that is the appropriate precaution (e.g., the close of Shabbos).

Monday, Nisan 7

- The nassi is recited after Shacharis. Today's nassi is for the tribe of Efrayim and marks the seventh day of inaugural offerings. After the nassi, the yehi ratzon prayer is recited.

- A law for the Era of Redemption: The inauguration of the Third Beis Hamikdash is scheduled to be completed on this day:

In describing the inauguration of the Third Beis Hamikdash, the prophet Yechezkel stated, "And so shall you do on seven [days] in the month, because of mistaken and simple-minded men, and expiate the House" (45:20; Haftorah for Parshas HaChodesh). According to Rashi's commentary, this verse informs us that in the Era of Redemption, the Jewish people will begin their seven-day inauguration of the Beis Hamikdash on Rosh Chodesh Nisan, completing the process on the seventh of Nisan. (See Likkutei Sichos, vol. 22, p. 198.)

(Radak's commentary on the verse notes that repeating the inauguration process for the altar and the Beis Hamikdash on the seventh of Nisan is an innovation exclusive to the Era of Redemption. According to Menachos (45b), the prophet Eliyahu will clarify the details found in Yechezkel's description of the future inauguration. For additional discussion, see further in that Gemara.)

- Kiddush levanah is recited after Ma'ariv. According to the Kabbalah, kiddush levanah is not recited until seven days have passed since the molad, the appearance of the new moon. See Sefer HaSichos 5752, vol. 1, p. 68.

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: The seven days of ritual cleanliness for the sake of the korban Pesach begins on this day:

Rambam states that "all Jews are warned by the Torah to maintain a state of ritual purity during each festival [Pesach, Shavuos, and Sukkos], so that they are ready to enter the Beis Hamikdash and partake of the sacred offerings." (See Likkutei Sichos, vol. 32, Parshas Shemini, at length.) This is especially critical before Pesach, because each Jew must offer and partake of the korban Pesach in the required state of ritual purity. (See Likkutei Sichos, vol. 36, p. 208.)

In order to accomplish this, all those who are ritually impure from a form of impurity that involves a bodily discharge (a zav, zavah, and possibly a niddah according to the stringency of Rabbi Zeira) and who must count seven days of cleanliness from the source of impurity, immerse, and bring a korban on the eighth day, must begin counting seven clean days from the seventh of Nisan (after determining that they are fit on the previous day prior to sunset), in order to be ritually clean in time for the korban Pesach.

Tuesday, Nisan 8

- The nassi is recited after Shacharis. Today's nassi is for the tribe of Menasheh and marks the eighth day of inaugural offerings. After the nassi, the yehi ratzon prayer is recited.

Tekufas Nisan, the spring season in the Jewish calendar (marked by the vernal equinox) begins tonight, at 12:56am.

(The tefukos-seasons are mentioned in the introduction to the calendar in HaYom Yom and in Luach Colel Chabad. For detailed laws, See Beis Yosef, Orach Chayim, 455 (end); Rema, ibid., par. 1; (Shulchan Aruch Admur HaZaken, ibid., par. 15-16, and in 206:14); Yoreh De'ah, 116:5; and many other places. See Likkutei Sichos, vol. 16, p. 98, fn. 33; vol. 21, p. 233, fn. 33; vol. 16, p. 577.)

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: Nowadays, all people are considered ritually impure from having had contact with a corpse. One who contracted this form of impurity must begin his purification process today, in order to count seven days free of impurity and to enable him to offer his korban Pesach in the required state of purity. (See Rambam and Ra'avad, Hilchos Korban Pesach, 6:2, as to the date for beginning the seven day count for those who contracted impurity from contact with a corpse.)

Some authorities permit the nation to offer their sacrifices in a state of impurity when the all or the majority of the nation is impure. In the case of the korban Pesach, however, even these authorities concur that ideally, every possible effort must be made to ensure that the offering is brought in a state of ritual purity.

Reminder: One who has not recited the blessing over blossoming fruit trees from the start of the month until now should do so today. The basic laws of this blessing are summarized below:

One who goes outdoors during the month of Nisan (this law is applicable only during the month of Nisan) and observes trees in bloom should recite the blessing:

בְּרוּךְ אַתָּה ה' אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם שֶׁלֹא חָסַר בְּעוֹלָמוֹ כְּלוּם וּבָרָא בּוֹ
בְּרִיּוֹת טוֹבוֹת וְאֵילָנוֹת טוֹבוֹת לְיִהְיוֹת בָּהֶם בְּנֵי אָדָם

"Blessed are You, L-rd our G-d, King of the universe, who has made nothing lacking in His world, and created in it goodly creatures and goodly trees to give mankind pleasure."

This blessing is recited only once a year, the first time one observes blossoming trees during Nisan. If he observed such trees but failed to recite the blessing, he should recite it the next time he sees such trees, but he should omit the words, Atah Hashem Elokeinu Melech ho'olom ("L-rd our G-d, King of the universe"). Rather, he should simply state, "Baruch Shelo etc." ("Blessed is the One Who has made....")

This blessing is not recited for a tree that does not produce fruit. The tree should be in blossom, prior to the production of fruit. Some are extra scrupulous to recite the blessing over two such trees simultaneously. This blessing is recited by men and women alike. Some authorities maintain that the blessing should not be recited for a tree that is orlah (within the first three years of its planting) or a tree that has been grafted. The majority of authorities permit reciting this blessing during Shabbos and yom tov. If one delayed until the blossoms have fallen and given way to fruit, he should recite the blessing without mentioning Hashem's name, in the method described above.

Wednesday, Nisan 9

- The nassi is recited after Shacharis. Today's nassi is for the tribe of Binyamin and marks the ninth day of inaugural offerings. After the nassi, the yehi ratzon prayer is recited.
- It is forbidden to say in reference to the meat of any kosher animal (domestic or otherwise) or fowl, "This meat is for Pesach." This would appear as though he is designating it for the korban Pesach. Rather, one should be careful to say, "This meat is for yom tov," or something similar. Nor should one person tell another, "Please take this money and buy meat for Pesach." Instead, he should take care to say, "Please buy me meat for yom tov."

Regarding fish or other foods that are not considered meat, one may say, "This is for Pesach." Some, however, are stringent to avoid saying, "This is for Pesach," regarding any item except for the wheat that will be used for the matzos and require guarding from contact with water from the moment of its harvest. In this particular case, one who overhears someone declaring that this wheat is "for Pesach" will correctly assume that he intends to guard it from becoming leavened, so as to use it for the Pesach matzos. It is best to be cautious and to try following this stringent opinion.

It should be noted that it is only forbidden to declare specific meat le-Pesach – "for Pesach," but there is nothing wrong with employing a different phrase with the same meaning, such as "al Pesach" – "over Pesach," as per the literal translation of the common Yiddish phrase, oif Pesach.

- One who must take medication during Pesach should not simply decide on his own to be stringent and avoid taking it throughout Pesach. Rather, he should consult a Rav to see whether he is permitted to avoid taking these particular medicines.
- One who has questions regarding Pesach (such as the above, concerning medicines) that require the deliberation of a Rav at the Badatz should not delay approaching the Badatz until the last minute. It is essential to contact a Rav as early as possible.

Reminder: One is obligated to take a haircut before Pesach to avoid entering the festival disheveled.

Reminder: One who has not yet purchased shmurah matzah for Pesach should do so now. A limited quantity of shmurah matzah produced under the supervision of the Badatz is available for purchase. Call 718.953.0015 for details.

Thursday, Nisan 10

- The nassi is recited after Shacharis. Today's nassi is for the tribe of Dan and marks the tenth day of inaugural offerings. After the nassi, the yehi ratzon prayer is recited.

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: It is a mitzvah to examine the animal designated for the korban Pesach today, four days prior to its slaughter, to ensure that it contains no disqualifying blemishes or wounds. (If one neglected to examine the animal today, the korban is still valid.)

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: As mentioned earlier, one who is ritually impure with the degree of impurity that is associated with contact with a corpse (this applies to everyone, everywhere nowadays) must undergo a seven-day purification process to regain ritual purity. Part of this process involves being sprinkled with the ashes of the parah adumah (red heifer) on the third and seventh day. In order to offer the korban Pesach on erev Pesach, one must be ritually pure. Thus the last opportunity to begin the seven-day count was last Tuesday. Those who began the count on Tuesday will be sprinkled with the ashes for the first time today – the third day of their count.

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: “In the Future Era, Yom Kippur will be observed on the tenth of Nisan [instead of the tenth of Tishrei].” – Ahavas Yonason (Parshas HaChodesh); see the reasoning in the original source.

- “Miriam [the prophetess, sister of Moshe Rabbeinu] passed away on the tenth of Nisan. This date was therefore established as a fast day when it occurs during the week, as stated in [Shulchan Aruch, Orach Chayim] 580.” (Alter Rebbe’s Shulchan Aruch.) Common custom, however, is not to fast on this day (see, however, Magen Avraham, 492:106).
- The central farbrengen in honor of Yud Alef Nisan will be held in 770 at 8:00pm.

“We should utilize this day to increase in all matters of Torah and mitzvos,” the Rebbe instructed, “and with joy! This should be accomplished by means of a joyful farbrengen that is attended by many Jews – men, women, and children (separated by a mechitzah that meets the requirements of the Shulchan Aruch). The farbrengen should be conducted in a spirit of the joy of a mitzvah, the joy of Torah, and even joy associated with the physical body, through food and drink, ‘Bread that satiates the heart of man’—especially the kinds of food and drink that gladden. Needless to say, this must be done within the well-known limitations – one should not exceed four cups of spirit, using small shot glasses, and even then, only if his nature permits him to drink this quantity without undesirable effects. There is no need to elaborate on something that is understood and obvious even to the small minded, meaning those who, when left to their own devices, would assume that conducting themselves contrary to the above restrictions would emphasize their association with simchah shel mitzvah ... [They would assume that by imbibing greater quantities of alcohol] they are achieving far more than what they were instructed to by the elder mashpi'im and by the leader of this generation who issued the above restrictions in plain and clear words.” (Sichas Yud Alef Nisan 5748.)

“It is also an appropriate occasion,” the Rebbe continued, “to mention the birthday of the Rambam. He was a guide to the confused of his own generation and remains a guide to those in all subsequent generations until the end of time. His birthday coincides with erev Pesach. We should arrange a joyful farbrengen that addresses matters of Torah and mitzvos on that date. It should be attended by many Jews – men, women, and children; to quote the Rambam’s introduction to Mishneh Torah – “It is for the small and the great alike.” However, since erev Pesach is not an appropriate time to hold widely attended gatherings, the event should be held in proximity to erev Pesach. Since it will not be held on the actual anniversary of his birth, it is necessary to put even greater effort into publicizing the event.”

Friday, Erev Shabbos HaGadol, Nisan 11 – the Rebbe’s Birthday

- The Rebbe was born on Nisan 11, 5662 [1902], during the day of erev Shabbos HaGadol. The date precisely matches this year’s calendar. The publication Hatomim records that the Rebbe Rashab delivered a ma’amor on that day, erev Shabbos, after Minchah.
- In honor of the Rebbe’s 112th birthday, Chapter 113 of Tehillim is recited daily after Shacharis, together with the daily portion of Tehillim.
- The Rebbe encouraged the study of the year’s chapter of Tehillim, not only with its classic commentaries, but also with the explanations of Chassidus. In Sichas Yud Gimmel Nisan 5751, for example, the Rebbe pointedly stated, “No doubt, many have already studied the explanations of this chapter’s verses as they are expounded in penimi’us ha-Torah. These teachings have even been published, creating publicity for generations to come.” The teachings for this year’s chapter have been published in a sefer entitled, Kovetz Yud Alef Nisan – Sh’nas Ha-Kuf Yud Gimmel.
- The nassi is recited after Shacharis. Today’s nassi is for the tribe of Asher and marks the eleventh day of inaugural offerings. After the nassi, the yehi ratzon prayer is recited.
- The entry for the year 5714 in Shalshelas HaYachas (in the Introduction to HaYom Yom) reads: “[The Rebbe] encouraged [that the chassidim] bring merit to the public by providing shemurah matzah for Pesach.”
- The Rebbe established the practice whereby everyone, but especially those in positions of authority such as a Rav, communal leader, or activist, should send round hand baked matzos (they must be shemurah matzah) for Pesach – or at a minimum, enough for the sedarim—to their acquaintances who would not otherwise obtain such on their own initiative, and that organizers of large public sedarim in hotels and the like should make similar arrangements. (Sefer HaMinhagim Chabad.)

Reminder: Those who need to perform hagalah keilim (koshering their kitchen utensils for Pesach use via immersion in scalding water) and have not yet done so should remember to do so. Some are extra scrupulous to perform the procedure at least three days prior to Pesach.

- “The laws of hagalah keilim are complex and not everyone is fluent in them. It is therefore appropriate and correct – despite common practice to the contrary – for a ba'al Torah who is expert in the laws of hagalah to perform the procedure.” (Alter Rebbe.) For details on arranging hagalah for your utensils according to the highest standards, please call 917.975.7850.

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: One who was unable to examine the animal he designated for the korban Pesach until now must do so today to ensure that it carries no disqualifying blemishes. This is according to the view that the four days period for examination includes the actual day of offering.

- Candle lighting is at 7:12pm.

Shabbos HaGadol, Parshas Acharei, Nisan 12

- This Shabbos is known as HaGadol (“Great”) to commemorate the great miracle that occurred on this Shabbos, immediately prior to the Exodus from Egypt. (The details of the miracle are recorded in Tur and in Shulchan Aruch Admur HaZaken, 430 (beg.), and are explained in many places in Likkutei Sichos.)

- The nassi is recited after Shacharis. Today’s nassi is for the tribe of Naftali and marks the twelfth day of inaugural offerings. After the nassi, the yehi ratzon prayer is recited.

- The Haftarah for Parshas Acharei-Mos is haloy chiv’nei chushi’im. The Haftarah for Shabbos HaGadol is not read on this occasion (this occurs only when erev Pesach coincides with Shabbos).

- Av harachamim is not recited today, nor on any Shabbos during the month of Nisan.

- In 770, Minchah is held earlier than usual today.

- During Minchah, the portion of Kedoshim is read. Tzidkasecha is not recited today, nor on any Shabbos during the month of Nisan.

- Minchah is followed by the individual reading of the Haggadah, from avadim hayinu until lechapeir al kol avonoseinu (the end of the paragraph that follows dayeinu). This reflects the fact that it was on the Shabbos prior to the Exodus that the redemption and the miracles began.

- In recent generations, it has become customary for the Rov of a community to lecture on the laws of Pesach on Shabbos HaGadol. The main goal of this address is “to teach the people the ways of Hashem and to advise them in the practical laws of Pesach.”

- In 770, the Shabbos HaGadol address will be delivered by the Rabbanim of the Badatz at 7:00pm.

Motzoei Shabbos

Shabbos ends at 8:15pm.

- Vihi no’am and ve-Atah kadosh are not recited at the conclusion of Ma’ariv.

Reminder: One who has not recited kiddush levanah this month should do so after Ma’ariv.

- Havdalah is recited. Since we do not use cloves during Pesach, it is important to remember to place the cloves, after using them for Havdalah, in an area designated to be sold to a non-Jew during Pesach.

- “One should always set his table and arrange it fully on motzoei Shabbos [for a Melave Malkah], as if he were setting it for a complete se’udah. Even if he will only eat a kezayis, either because that is all he has [or for other reasons] ... he should nevertheless prepare and set his table as if he were sitting down to a full meal, in order to escort the departing Shabbos with honor, similar to the honor with which he welcomes it.” (Alter Rebbe.)

Sunday, Nisan 13

- Today is the yahrtzeit of the Tzemach Tzedek. He passed away in 5626 [1866] and was interred in the town of Lubavitch.

- After Shacharis, the section of zos chanukas ha-mizbe’ach is read. It concludes with kein asa es ha-menorah. No yehi ratzon is recited.

- Denture wearers and youth wearing braces to straighten their teeth should not eat or drink any warm or sharp chametz substance within a 24 hrs period prior to the deadline for eating chametz on erev Pesach. They must stop eating warm or sharp chametz today at 10:42am.

Reminder: In 5747, the Rebbe issued the following directive: “It is extremely worthwhile and highly appropriate for each Jewish child to receive his own Haggadah Shel Pesach before the start of the festival. It would be best to give them an illustrated Haggadah that depicts the various mitzvos and events that are discussed in the Haggadah, making the Haggadah’s contents far more accessible to children. On the inside cover, one should inscribe the words lashem ha’aretz u’melo’ah (“To Hashem is the Earth and its contents,” often abbreviated as לַהֲשֵׁם, acknowledging that everything belongs to Hashem), followed by the child’s name.” (Sichas Shabbos Parshas Vayikra 5747.)

- In 5748, the Rebbe added: “It would be best to purchase a new Siddur or the like for a child before yom tov. The importance of such gifts can be derived from the law that one should purchase edible treats for a child in honor of yom tov, which are merely non-obligatory items.” (Sichas Shabbos Parshas Vayikra 5748.)

Reminder: One who has not yet contributed to funds that provide matzos and other Pesach needs to those who cannot afford them should do so now. Women are also accustomed to personally be mehader in this important mitzvah:

- In Sichos Kodesh, the Rebbe explains, “Women have a special connection with the mitzvah of tzedakah. In our society, husbands are accustomed to entrust considerable sums to their wives’ discretion and therefore even significant funds are considered within the halachic definition of a minor sum, which a tzedakah collector was permitted to accept from a woman in former times [when society placed the majority of a family’s funds under the husband’s sole jurisdiction]. In the USA, it is prevalent for the distribution of funds for tzedakah and for many other matters to be the woman’s prerogative to a far greater extent than that of their husbands.”

- The sale of chametz will take place at the offices of the Badatz today, from 10:30am until 8:00pm. This will resume after bedikas chametz, from 11:00pm until 1:00am. One who intends to travel to another location for Pesach must inform the Rav before selling his chametz.

Every room that requires searching for chametz must first be thoroughly swept and cleaned. The head of a household should remind all members of his family to clean under their beds.

Bedikas Chametz Night, Eve of Nisan 14, Erev Pesach

- One who intends to travel on erev Pesach in order to spend Pesach in a different location should not sell his entire property to a non-Jew as chametz. Rather, he must leave at least one room that will not be included in the sale, in order to be able to perform bedikas chametz tonight (the fourteenth of Nisan) in at least part of his home.

One who travels before tonight (the fourteenth of Nisan) need not leave a room unsold. Instead, he is obligated to perform bedikas chametz tonight wherever he may be.

One who is hosted by others should place some of his own chametz in the room at which he is staying and conduct a search for chametz tonight. (Technically, a guest can fulfill his obligation to search for chametz tonight via the search conducted by his host. In that case, the host acts as his guest’s shaliach for bedikas chametz.) If he does not own any chametz, he is not obligated to search at all. If he wishes to be machmir, however, he will make a point of bringing some chametz of his own in order to conduct a search. Some suggest that a guest should purchase the room in which he is staying from his host (using a purchase method that is halachically valid), but to nevertheless listen to, and rely upon, his host’s recital of the blessing over the search.

- From approximately half an hour prior to nightfall (tzeis ha-kochavim), it is prohibited to sit down to a meal or to study, to perform work, or to enter a bathhouse (activities that may easily grow protracted, causing him to neglect conducting the search).

- Bedikas chametz is conducted after Ma’ariv. Various options are presented in Shulchan Aruch, but the accepted practice is to conduct the search immediately after Ma’ariv. (See also Likkutei Sichos, vol. 17, p. 434.)

- Some are careful to wash their hands (netilas yadayim) before conducting the search. Bedikas chametz facilitates the observance of Pesach, and is therefore an important mitzvah that deserves to be conducted in a state of ritual cleanliness.

- It has become the prevalent custom to position pieces of chametz (hard pieces that do not crumble and cause serious chametz issues) around the house in the areas that will be searched during bedikas chametz. These are put into position a short while before the bedikah commences. Each piece should be wrapped securely in paper, but not in foil that will prevent the chametz from being fully burned the next day. According to Kabbalah, exactly ten pieces should be used.

- It is highly advisable to prepare a list that accurately describes the location of each of the ten pieces.
- It is best to use at least the amount of a kezayis divided into ten, in order to fulfill the mitzvah of bi'ur chametz according to Biblical law.

In addition, some authorities have stated that each individual piece should not exceed a kezayis in size. If a piece is lost, at least the Biblical law of bal yeira'eh (not owning a visible kezayis of chametz) will not have been broken, and if it is found and accidentally eaten during Pesach, at least the penalty of kareis will not be incurred because the chametz will lack the required minimum size for this penalty.

- Before one conducts his search, he recites the blessing, Baruch ... al bi'ur chametz.
- The head of a household should gather his family members around him while recited the blessing, so that they can fulfill their obligation through his search. Household members are not obligated to search for chametz individually in addition to the search conducted by the head of the household. Nevertheless, if they do so, they have performed a mitzvah. It is therefore possibly a mitzvah to give them the merit of participating in this mitzvah.
- To perform bedikas chametz in the best possible manner, one should not rely on a search conducted by anyone other than someone halachically considered a free man who is obligated in mitzvos, i.e., a male thirteen years of age or older, unless there is no alternative. He should not talk from the moment he recites the blessing until the conclusion of the search. He should take care to begin searching in the immediate vicinity of the location in which he recited the blessing before moving on to other rooms.
- After reciting the blessing, one should not speak before beginning his search, even to address a matter that pertains to the actual search.
- The search must be conducted by candlelight, because candlelight is ideal for searching and probing all sorts of corners, cracks, and crevices. One should not use a torch (made of multiple wicks or a thick stem), but rather, a small single flame. In the first instance, one should be careful to avoid searching with anything but a beeswax candle.

- Where there is a concern of danger (causing a fire, etc.), an electric flashlight should be used instead.
- A bird feather is used in the search, and the chametz that is found is placed in a small paper bag.
- Using candlelight, one must search every nook and cranny, even cracks in the floor.
- One is obligated to painstakingly search for chametz in every location where chametz could have been unthinkingly brought in at some point during the year. For that reason, every room in the house, including its attics and even places that one is certain that he never ate chametz there, needs to be thoroughly searched for chametz tonight, by candlelight.
- In a home with young children, even holes and cracks that are lower than three tefachim from the floor must be searched. One must assume that a child may have stowed a piece of chametz there.
- One must remember to search his car or vehicle (using a flashlight).
- One must also search his place of work, such as an office – unless he will not enter that location during Pesach and it can therefore be sold to a non-Jew for the duration of the festival.
- The Chabad custom is to carry out the search meticulously, at great length.
- It is appropriate to refrain from talking throughout the search to address matters not related to the actual search.
- After the search has ended, it is appropriate to count the pieces of chametz to ensure that all ten pieces were found. (Alternatively, if a list of the ten locations in which chametz was placed was compiled prior to the search, the pieces could be checked off as the search progresses and each piece in turn is discovered.)
- If after the search one realizes that a piece is missing, he must search the entire house again without a beracha. If he does not find the piece, then left with no choice, he may rely on the verbal declaration recited after the search, whereby he relinquishes ownership of any unfound chametz still in his possession.
- Once the search is concluded, the remainders of the candle (if they exist) are placed together with the feather and the small paper bag containing the ten pieces of wrapped chametz into the palm of the wooden spoon. The entire set is then wrapped in paper, leaving just the long handle of the spoon exposed. A string or rope is then tightly wound multiple times around the paper and firmly tied.

- Great care must be taken to secure the chametz that was found and that is kept to be eaten or burned the next morning. It should not be left where it may be moved from one place to another, raising the likelihood of falling crumbs. It must be safeguarded from young children as well as from rodents. This is not merely sound advice and common sense. Chazal actually established an obligation to be extra careful with the chametz, and one who is negligent will have committed a transgression.

- Just as one must be careful with chametz that was found during the search, so must he be careful with all other chametz that still exists in the home. It is forbidden to leave it open and available to young children who may carry it from one place to another.

- All final chametz items that are to be sold to a non-Jew must be placed in locations designated for this purpose. These locations should be shut, secured, and labeled.

- After the search, one recites kol chamira, relinquishing ownership over chametz.

- The main declaration occurs not via speech, but in one's mind and heart, whereby he firmly resolves that all chametz found in his property is utterly worthless to him – as if it were mere dust. After reaching this decision, he no longer thinks about the chametz, and it is considered entirely hefker, ownerless and free for anyone to take. He is thereafter freed from the prohibitions against owning chametz during Pesach. Nevertheless, Chazal also require him to verbally express his decision by reciting kol chamira.

- The average person in the majority of countries does not understand the Aramaic language in which Chazal composed kol chamira. It is essential to inform everyone of the importance of reciting the declaration in a language that they fully comprehend. As explained above, the nullification of chametz depends chiefly on a person's intentions and inner resolve. It is crucial that the declaration not be a clueless utterance of foreign words, but rather, a rational relinquishment of ownership.

In English: All leaven and anything leavened that is in my possession, which I have neither seen nor removed, and about which I am unaware, shall be considered nullified and ownerless as the dust of the earth.

- The declaration recited on the eve of the fourteenth of Nisan, after the search, serves only to nullify any chametz the existence of which is not known. By contrast, the chametz which one purposely retained in order to eat tonight or tomorrow morning (until the fifth halachic hour of the day) is not included in the declaration; if he declares it ownerless and nullified, his declaration is worthless and the chametz must be disposed of in its proper time.

Reminder: One who was unable to recite kiddush levanah until now may do so all night tonight.

Monday, Nisan 14, Erev Pesach

- Today is the anniversary of Rambam's birth. He was born on an erev Pesach that coincided with Shabbos, an hour and a third after midday.

- It is forbidden to eat matzah any time today, starting from dawn. (The Chabad custom is to refrain from eating matzah from Purim, thirty days before Pesach.) A young child who is unable to comprehend the basic story of the Exodus from Egypt is permitted to eat matzah, and can even do so after nightfall before hearing kiddush at the start of the Seder. By contrast, a child who can relate to the saga of yetzi'as mitzrayim must not eat matzah the entire erev Pesach.

- Some have the custom to refrain from eating marror today, so that they can eat it at tonight's Seder in good appetite. For the same reason, they refrain from eating marror during the daytime of the first day of Pesach, in order to eat it on the second night's Seder in good appetite. The Chabad custom is to refrain from eating any of the items that are used for marror or charoses, from dawn on erev Pesach until after koreich of the second Seder night. This does not apply to meat, fish, eggs, potatoes, and onions, despite the fact that they will potentially appear on the Seder plate (ka'arah) as karpas and beitzah.

- On the morning of erev Pesach, it is customary to pray Shacharis at an early minyan, in order to finish eating the chametz meal before the fourth (halachic) hour of the day.

- Mizmor le-sodah, usually recited after baruch she'amar during Shacharis, is not recited today. Nor will it be recited during chol ha-mo'ed.

- In commemoration of the miracle of makas bechoros, whereby every Egyptian male firstborn died, but every Jewish male firstborn was spared, it is customary for firstborns to fast the entire erev Pesach. This applies to every kind of firstborn, not only “true” firstborns, including one who is the firstborn son only to his father, or only to his mother, or if he is the first surviving child after a miscarriage, stillborn, or the like.

- It is customary for a father to fast on behalf of his minor son until he has grown old enough to fast for himself. If the father is himself a firstborn who is required to fast, the child’s mother fasts instead on behalf of her minor firstborn son. If this causes pain, and certainly if she is pregnant or nursing, the mother does not need to fast. In that case, the father’s fast will be considered on his own behalf as well as on behalf of his son. (See Shulchan Aruch Admur HaZaken, 470:6, regarding the case of a mother who no longer has a husband, or if she observed this fast in previous years.)

- In locations without an established custom to the contrary, a firstborn is permitted to end his fast by partaking in the food and drink of a se’udas mitzvah. It has become the widespread custom for firstborns to annul their fasts on erev Pesach by participating in a siyum, a ceremony marking the conclusion of study of an entire volume (masechta) of Mishnah or Talmud, after which they are permitted to eat and drink as they wish during the day. Nevertheless, a firstborn who is stringent to maintain his fast will be blessed.

The deadline for eating chametz is 10:42am. No chametz may be eaten at this time or afterwards.

- Chazal prohibited the eating of chametz from two (halachic) hours before midday (the entire fifth and sixth halachic hour). However, Chazal only prohibited the eating of chametz during the first of those two hours (the fifth hour). It is therefore permitted to derive other forms of benefit from chametz at that time.

- One should clean his mouth and teeth well to remove any remnants of chametz before the deadline for eating chametz.

- Dentures must be cleaned extremely well to remove even the minutest trace of visible chametz. They should then be kashered for Pesach by having boiling water poured over them, using a secondary vessel. If one is certain that they will not be damaged by pouring directly from the source of boiling water, he should do so. Denture wearers or youth with braces that are fixed onto their teeth must first clean their teeth and the braces or bridges extremely well, removing even the faintest trace of visible chametz. They should then “kasher” their braces or bridges by drinking water at the highest temperature that they can tolerate without harming themselves, G-d forbid.

Final Reminder: All final chametz items that are to be sold to a non-Jew must be placed in locations designated for this purpose before the time to stop eating chametz. These locations should be shut, secured, and labeled. In addition, all garbage bags, vacuum cleaners, and the like, that contain chametz must be removed or stowed away by this time.

- Women who intend to wear their rings during Pesach must kasher them if the rings have been in contact with warm chametz substances. If the rings have not yet been kashered, they must be attended to now. Any traces of chametz must first be removed and then boiling water is poured over the rings.

- Everyone must remember to examine the pockets and gloves of their own clothing, and that of their children, to remove any possible chametz. One who never places chametz into these locations need not check them today (nor did he have to check them last night during bedikas chametz). Nevertheless, it can only bring blessing to be extra cautious and to check all such garments.

All remaining chametz must be destroyed by noon – 11:49am.

- Chazal prohibited not only eating, but even deriving benefit from chametz from this time on (the beginning of the sixth halachic hour of the day). It is therefore no longer possible to sell chametz to a non-Jew.

- It is prohibited to derive benefit from chametz that belongs to someone else, even chametz owned by a non-Jew. For example, one cannot deliberately smell a non-Jew’s bread or other chametz food.

- It is best to take care to recite the second declaration of annulment of chametz (by relinquishing ownership) only after removing and destroying all chametz from one’s property. This way, he first destroys his remaining chametz, fulfilling the mitzvah of bi’ur chametz, and only then renders any overlooked chametz ownerless and worthless. (If he reverses the order, first relinquishing ownership and only then removing and burning the chametz, he will not have fulfilled the mitzvah of bi’ur chametz, because he will be destroying chametz that he no longer owns.)

- Chametz should be burned alone in a fire designated for this purpose only. It is critical to remember to remove the paper bag containing the ten pieces of chametz from last night’s search (as well as the spoon, feather, and candle remains). They must be removed from the house and burned together with any other chametz presently being burned.

- During the burning of the ten pieces, one should recite the yehi ratzon prayer found in the Siddur or Haggadah.
- After burning the chametz and removing any chametz that remained from this morning's meal, is it appropriate to recite the second kol chamira (declaration of annulment), so that if any crumbs or traces of this morning's food were overlooked, they will be considered ownership and worthless. If they are subsequently discovered during Pesach, one will not have transgressed the prohibitions against chametz.
- Many have inquired regarding the matzah used to create an eiruv chatzeiros. It is customary to re-establish the eiruv chatzeiros each erev Pesach with a fresh matzah, but what is to be done with the old matzah? Some have suggested turning it into some form of cooked dish after Shabbos HaGadol (when it is no longer needed) and eating it between Shabbos HaGadol and erev Pesach. However, the Rishonim clearly state that the custom is to burn it or otherwise eliminate it on erev Pesach. The Rebbe explains that it cannot be used for the subsequent eiruv because the matzah has not been guarded throughout the year with the extreme care usually taken for items that are to be eaten on Pesach. It is therefore burned along with the chametz.

The Arizal states, "One who is scrupulous regarding even the minutest quantity of chametz on Pesach is guaranteed not to sin the entire year." He possibly refers to immunity from inadvertent sins; there is no question that every person retains his freedom of choice for good or bad regardless.

The Alter Rebbe quotes in a teshuvah that the Arizal stated that one should observe all of the chumros, extra-precautionary stringencies, during Pesach. It is noteworthy that in the year 5692, the Rebbe Rayatz stated that his father, the Rebbe Rashab, had said that one should not make a custom of observing hiddurim during Pesach. The reason for this is to avoid being considered having formally accepting these stringencies upon oneself with the force of a vow. Presumably, this means that one should do them without establishing it as a custom.

One should not say, "Pesach is such a bother!" or express similar sentiments. In the Haggadah, we read that the Wicked Son says, "What is this service to you!" meaning, "Why bother with all this hassle!" People are no longer careful about this nowadays, as can be readily observed. In order to judge them favorably, we can suggest that one is called a rashah only for decrying the efforts involving in the actual korban Pesach—the service referred to in the verse, in its most limited sense. The korban Pesach is a Biblical obligation, and the Wicked Son is claiming that the Torah's commandments are nothing but a burden. By contrast, the frequently voiced exclamations of weariness and overwhelm that we hear nowadays refer to the truly significant extent of the extra stringencies and precautions that have accumulated over the generations.

- On erev Pesach, a specific order of conduct existed in the town of Lubavitch, under the guidance of the Rebbeim. After burning the chametz, they would immerse in a mikveh. They would then dress in yom tov clothing and bake the matzos to be used for that night's Seder (these matzos are called matzos mitzvah). They would then busy themselves with all of their other yom tov preparations, including the removal of seals from bottles of wine, especially seals that included lettering. They would also partially remove the corks or stoppers from the necks of the bottles, taking care to prevent the metal of the bottle opener from coming into contact with the wine. (Sefer HaSichos 5703, p. 74. See Sefer HaSichos 5696, p. 129.)

- The Rebbe customarily distributed shemurah matzos after Minchah on erev Pesach while dressed in the silk kapotah that he reserved for Shabbos and yom tov, and while wearing his gartel. (Sefer HaMinhagim Chabad, p. 38.)

Ban on working: During the era of the Beis Hamikdash, Chazal instituted a prohibition against any Jewish person performing work from midday on erev Pesach—the hours in which the korban Pesach was offered. This Rabbinical prohibition was not removed even after the destruction of the Beis Hamikdash and the discontinuation of the korban Pesach. One who performs work during these hours is treated as one who transgresses the laws of Chazal. Nor will he ever see any blessing from the work he performed. To work for payment or for free, for oneself or for others, or even for the needs of yom tov, are all equally forbidden.

- All activities that may be performed during chol ha-mo'ed—such as a matter that will be lost if left attended, or something that is necessary for the days of chol ha-mo'ed and is done non-professionally, not as a worker trained in that field—may certainly be performed on erev Pesach afternoon.

- It is only true work that may not be performed, such as crafting a new utensil or sewing new garments. By contrast, one may repair something that has been slightly damaged and is needed at present. Similarly, one may sew and repair clothing that has been slightly torn or damaged and is needed for yom tov. Work of this kind may be performed in a professional manner for oneself, or for someone else but without payment.

- Professional writing is considered a true form of work and is not permitted even for a mitzvah, unless it meets the requirements that would make it permissible during chol ha-mo'ed.

- One is permitted to write (jot down notes) as part of his Torah studies, because he has no intention to produce a perfect script or style. It is customary to permit the composition of non-official letters.

- It is forbidden to give a haircut to a Jewish person after halachic midday (12:56pm). It is also prohibited to give oneself a haircut at this point. However, one may receive a haircut from a non-Jew.

- Every form of work may be performed on one's behalf by a non-Jew, even matters that are not necessary for yom tov.

- Some authorities consider it forbidden to trim one's nails after midday, while others are lenient. Given a choice, one should be stringent and take care of cutting his nails before midday. If he forgot or was otherwise unable to do so, he may rely on the lenient view and trim them in the afternoon.

All of the above refers to work performed in the afternoon on erev Pesach. Before midday, however, one should follow local custom, whether it prohibits work in the manner described above, or permits it.

- One should not let blood on erev Pesach. Chazal applied this prohibition to the day preceding each of the three festivals so that one will not come to let blood on erev Shavuos, which entails a risk of actual harm.

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: The upcoming shmitah year must be taken into consideration:

This year is the sixth year into the current shemitah cycle. The entire year is considered erev shevi'is, the year preceding the seventh year (the year of shemitah). If there is no Beis Hamikdash, one may work the land in Eretz Yisrael the entire sixth year, all the way up until Rosh Hashanah of the seventh year. By contrast, when there is a Beis Hamikdash, such work may not be conducted during the thirty days leading up to the seventh year. This law is halachah le-Moshe mi-Sinai (an original Biblical law, passed down as oral tradition from Moshe Rabbeinu) and its purpose is to prevent a person from preparing his ground for the seventh year. To prevent the likelihood of transgressing this law, Chazal further restricted the plowing of a field in the sixth year, so that it may be done only until Pesach, and the plowing around the trees of an orchard, which may be done only until Shavuos. These additional restrictions apply only when there is a Beis Hamikdash.

- What if one discovers chametz anywhere on his property during Pesach? According to the original law (without the consideration described below), chametz that is discovered on erev Pesach anytime between the deadline for removing or destroying chametz and sunset (shekiah) must be destroyed completely as soon as it is discovered. The same is true of chametz discovered during chol ha-mo'ed. If it is discovered during yom tov or Shabbos chol ha-mo'ed, it must be securely covered so that it cannot be seen, and then destroyed completely immediately after Shabbos or yom tov.

When destroying chametz during Pesach, one recites the blessing ... al bi'ur chametz – provided that there is at least the quantity of a kezayis and that it is considered true chametz.

Nowadays, however, it is customary to include the phrase, be-chol makom she-hu, “wherever it may be,” in the contract by which the chametz is sold to a non-Jew. Therefore, some authorities consider any chametz discovered during Pesach as belonging to the non-Jew, and it should be placed along with the other items that have been sold to the non-Jew.

One who wishes to be stringent and to burn the chametz, out of concern that it may not be included in the sale, should not recite a blessing over its destruction. Destroying the chametz is not considered theft from a non-Jew because he intends to pay the non-Jew for the destroyed chametz, should he demand it, and one is technically permitted to take an item in advance from a non-Jew with the intention of paying for it subsequently. When doing so, one must have in mind that he does not intend to acquire the chametz. For this reason, it is best to avoid touching it directly; he should move it with a stick or some similar method.

Seder preparations:

- One should set his table while it is still day, so that he can begin the Seder as soon as it grows dark. On the afternoon of erev Pesach, therefore, he should prepare all the items that will be necessary for the Seder, such as the matzos, the wine (including removing the seals and opening the bottles), the items placed on the Seder plate (ka'arah). He should check the lettuce leaves to make certain they are bug free; dry them to avoid a concern of sheruyah (matzah that contacts water during Pesach) when the lettuce will later be used to fill the matzah of koreich; grate the horseradish; prepare the charoses; and so on.
- Although the items for the Seder plate must be prepared in advance, nevertheless, it is the Chabad custom to arrange them on the Seder plate only at night, immediately prior to kadeish (the recital of kiddush at the start of the Seder).
- One may not eat roasted meat at the Seder because it resembles the korban Pesach. Meat that is cooked in its own juices, meaning that it is placed in a pot without water or any other liquids and it stews in the fluids that emerge from the meat when heated, is not considered roasted meat. Nevertheless, there is an issue of maris ayin – it can be confused for roasted meat by an observer, who may conclude that it is permissible to eat roasted meat at a Seder. It is therefore prohibited. Even meat that is first cooked in water and then roasted is prohibited for the same reason.
- “When one sits down to eat and drink [during a festival],” Rambam states, “he is obligated to also feed the stranger, orphan, and widow, along with any other needy person suffering misfortune. One who acts contrarily, bolting the doors to his courtyard so that he can eat and drink with his wife and children without providing food and drink to the poor and broken hearted, is not partaking in the joy of a mitzvah, but of his own stomach. This type of merriment is a disgrace to those who engage in it.”
- One must be glad and in a joyful frame of mind the entire eight days of the festival. He must see to it that his wife, children, and all who are dependent upon or accompany him are similarly joyful. This joy is a Biblical obligation. How is this accomplished? A husband purchases clothing and jewelry for his wife, according to his means. (For men and children, see entries below for the first day of Pesach.)
- One should purify himself in a mikveh today, as is the case on the day preceding each of the festivals.

- From the tenth halachic hour of the day (4:15pm), it is forbidden to eat matzah ashirah – matzah formed from flour and fruit juice or any other liquid but water – to ensure that one is able to eat the required kezayis of matzah at the Seder tonight with the proper appetite. In these countries, however, it is customary to refrain from eating matzah ashirah altogether once the time for eating chametz (the start of fifth halachic hour of the day) has passed. The concept of not removing one’s appetite nevertheless remains, and one should only eat small amounts of any food from the beginning of the tenth hour (4:15pm), taking care not to fill himself up. He should also avoid drinking any significant quantity of wine at this point.

- It is forbidden to create a new flame during yom tov, but it is permissible to draw a new flame from one that already exists. For that reason, it is necessary to prepare a flame that will remain lit from erev Pesach until it is needed to light the yom tov candles on the second night of Pesach. A gas flame is sufficient for this purpose.

- One who is accustomed to setting timers in his home each erev Shabbos should bear in mind that they will continue to run as set for the two full days of yom tov.

Eiruv Chatzeiros: When two or more homes share a joint courtyard or property, it is customary to establish an eiruv chatzeiros on erev Pesach that will last all the way until a new eiruv is established on erev Pesach of the following year. This allows the residents of the respective homes to carry from one home to the other and to and from the joint courtyard. For specific details on the eiruv’s creation and use, see Shulchan Aruch, 366-368. It is customary to use a single, whole matzah. The text of the blessing and its directions are found in the Siddur and some Haggados.

- The Rebbe Rashab would pointedly pray Minchah on erev Pesach at an early hour. It is generally advisable to pray at least a little earlier than usual, to allow time for reciting Seder Korban Pesach immediately following Minchah. This recital is to be completed prior to sunset (7:34pm).

Seder Korban Pesach: Our prayers take the place of the offerings in the Beis Hamikdash. The Minchah service replaces the daily afternoon sacrifice (korban tamid shel bein ha-arbayim). When the Beis Hamikdash stood, the korban Pesach was offered after the afternoon tamid. Therefore, the Seder Korban Pesach (Order of Offering the Pesach Sacrifice) is recited directly after the Minchah service. The text is found in the Siddur and Haggadah. The Rebbe's explanations of the Alter Rebbe's choice of wording in his version of Seder Korban Pesach appear in the Haggadah that the Rebbe personally compiled – Haggadah Shel Pesach Im Likkutei Ta'amim u'Minhagim.

In a number of sichos, the Rebbe Rayatz mentions that his father, the Rebbe Rashab, would not simply recite Seder Korban Pesach, but he would actually study it in depth, along with the laws pertaining to the korban Pesach. The Rebbe Rayatz personally perpetuated this practice. In Sichas Shabbos Mevarchim Nisan 5748, the Rebbe calls for preparing to actual offer the korban Pesach. He explains that one of the ways in which this is accomplished – in fact, the foremost method – is through studying the details of the Pesach offering, beginning with a study of Seder Korban Pesach that was printed in the Siddur so that it would be equally available to Jews of every caliber.

The Rebbe Rayatz offered a powerful description of the effect of the Rebbe Rashab's recital of Seder Korban Pesach:

"After the recital, or more precisely, the study of korban Pesach, which would take a good hour and at times, an hour and a half, an utterly different kind of light filled the home. Such an atzilus kind of ambiance! Everything became so joyful. Each item that met the eye now shone with unique grace ... There was such a satisfying atmosphere!

"The mood that was felt on erev Pesach following the study of the korban Pesach was not only a preparation for a yom tov. Rather, this was literally yom tov itself! It was a joy derived from a good thought and the greatest, finest, expectation of Moshiach's arrival. Here Moshiach comes! And there is the Beis Hamikdash! And we are offering the korban Pesach! We are engaged in its offering with such delight!

"The erev Pesach delight was different from that of Simchas Torah or Yud Tes Kislev. Erev Pesach was a satisfying, pleasurable, ambiance. Leil shimurim [the night of divine protection, the first Seder night] sparked from every corner. The scent of redemption was sensed in everything. We could feel that we were experiencing an exalted condition.

"Here we are! Another moment, just another moment, and that which only we Jews have a part of will transpire – an experience that belongs exclusively to us...." (Likkutei Dibburim, vol. 1, p. 134. See the continuation of this brief expert, at great length.)

"One who is G-d fearing and is careful to fulfill the word of Hashem," writes the Alter Rebbe, "must read [Seder Korban Pesach] at the appropriate time [of day], for his recital will take the place of its actual offering. He should be troubled over the destruction of the Beis Hamikdash and plead before Hashem, the Creator of the universe, that He should build [the Third Beis Hamikdash] speedily in our days – Amen!" The Rebbe explains this precise statement of the Alter Rebbe at length in Likkutei Sichos, vol. 32, pp. 36-43. See there, p. 41 – "It is considered as if he were standing within the Beis Hamikdash and actually performing all the detailed activities that he is reading in Seder Korban Pesach; a literal act of offering the sacrifice."

O A law for the Era of Redemption: On erev Pesach, the stones of the Altar are whitened with a coat of lime. During the offering of the korban Pesach today, the flute is played before the Altar.

- One should give tzedakah in advance for the two days of Pesach.

Candle lighting: The yom tov candles are lit before reciting the blessing, as is done before Shabbos. There are two blessings today: 1. Le-hadlik neir shel yom tov and 2. Shehechyanu. If a man lights the candles, he does not recite shehechyanu because he will do so later at night, during kiddush. Tonight's candle lighting will be at 7:16pm, which is eighteen minutes before sunset.

If one is running late, she or he may light the candles after yom tov has begun, provided that the fire is taken from a pre-existing flame.

Monday Night, the First Night of Pesach

- Ma'ariv begins with shir ha-ma'alos. The amidah for the festivals (shalosh regalim) is recited.
- On the first two nights of Pesach, it is customary to recite the entire hallel (hallel shalem) together with the minyan, directly after the amidah, with the blessings at its beginning and end.
- The deadline for reciting kiddush levanah is tonight (the eve of the fifteenth of Nisan), at 10:16pm.
- One should rush to begin kiddush before nightfall (8:17pm).
- One who forgot or was unable to prepare the detailed items needed for the Seder earlier today may do so now – in a manner permitted during yom tov. Before he begins, he must realize that he is allowed to prepare only what is needed for tonight's Seder. He cannot prepare enough for tomorrow night's Seder as well, because it is forbidden to prepare food during the first day of yom tov for the sake of the second day of yom tov.

Zero'a – the neckbone (shankbone): The Alter Rebbe states in his Shulchan Aruch that “According to the strict law, it may be roasted or cooked. It is customary, however, to roast it over coals as a remembrance of the korban Pesach that was roasted in fire.”

One who forgot to roast the zero'a on erev Pesach, but has a cooked one available, may use it instead. If he specifically wants it roasted, he may roast it now, on yom tov. One whose custom is to cook it, but he forgot to do so earlier, may likewise cook it now.

There are two things to be careful about: 1. To cook or roast only the quantity needed for tonight. 2. To make certain to eat the meat sometime on the first day of yom tov. Cooking or roasting is permitted on yom tov only if the food will actually be eaten on yom tov. If he cooked it, he may choose to eat it tonight or tomorrow, in the daytime. However, if he roasted it, he must not eat it tonight because it is prohibited to eat roasted meat at the Seder (due to the similarity with the korban Pesach), and he has no choice but to eat it tomorrow morning or afternoon.

Were it not for the fact that he forgot to prepare the zero'a in advance, he would otherwise follow the general Chabad custom to remove almost all of the meat from the bone before placing it on the Seder plate, and to avoid eating the meat of the zero'a altogether in order to avoid all resemblance to the korban Pesach. It is only because he cooked or roasted it on yom tov that he is forced to act differently in this case.

Maror: In his Shulchan Aruch, the Alter Rebbe states that it is forbidden to finely grate the horseradish during yom tov, even it is done with a shinuy (in an uncommon manner), because its way of grating is that a lot is grated at once. (This stands in contrast with the ruling of Chayei Adam and other authorities who permit grating and grinding with a shinuy.) Rather, one who forgot to grate the marror before yom tov should either use lettuce leaves only (they must be examined carefully for insects) or chop the horseradish into small pieces with a knife.

The other foods needed for tonight's Seder, including the charoses and the saltwater, may be prepared regularly, without the need for a shinuy. (A shinuy would be necessary in these cases only if Pesach would coincide with Shabbos, as the Alter Rebbe explains. This is in contrast to Chayei Adam and other authorities who require a shinuy to prepare saltwater on yom tov.)

- It is the custom of the Chabad Rabbeim, passed down from one generation to another, to begin the Seder immediately after Ma'ariv on the first night of Pesach, and not to dwell at length on the Seder, in order to eat the Afikoman before the halachic hour of midnight. On the second night of Pesach, by contrast, the custom is to prolong the Seder until a very late hour; the Rebbe then explains the Haggadah and other Torah subjects and inspires his audience to divine service, at great length.

- “Before one does anything related to the Seder on these nights,” the Rebbe Rayatz quoted his father, the Rebbe Rashab as saying, referring to the two Seder nights, “he must first take a look inside his Siddur” [to clarify the precise instructions and order]. (Sichas Leil Beis de-Chag ha-Pesach 5704. See also the same occasion in 5711.)

For the above reason, and due to lack of space in this publication, the laws pertaining to the Seder night are not presented here in all their details. They are to be found in the Siddur and Haggadah. It is especially important to consult the Rebbe's Haggadah (entitled, Haggadah Shel Pesach Im Likkutei Ta'amim u'Minhagim) to clarify the laws and customs. Selected points only appear below, for public benefit.

A number of distinctions exist between the instructions printed in the Alter Rebbe's Siddur and actual Chabad custom:

- Karpas is dipped in saltwater, not vinegar.
- When reciting the blessing borei peri ha-adamah on the karpas, one should also intend to include the marror that will be eaten later, during koreich (in addition to including the marror eaten during marror).
- During maggid, the Seder plate is not raised; rather, the matzos are partially uncovered.
- After reciting hei lachma anya, many are accustomed not to remove the Seder plate to a different location, but to merely shift it slightly and to cover the matzos.

- During vihi she'amdah, the matzos are covered first and then the cup of wine is raised.
- When reciting the words matzah zu ("This is the matzah") and marror zu ("This is the marror"), the items mentioned are not raised by hand; rather, the second and third matzos are held via the cloths or napkins that separate them, with one hand, while the other hand rests upon the marror and the chazeres (the marror used for koreich).
- When reciting lefichoch, the cup of wine is not raised continuously until the conclusion of the blessing asher ge'alanu. Rather, it is set down on the table at the words venomar lefanav hallelukah, and it is raised once more for the blessing of asher ge'alanu.
- During marror, the blessing is recited with the intention that it includes the marror eaten for koreich.
- For tzafun, two kezaisim of matzah are eaten, not just one.
- Unlike the first night's Seder, there is no custom to hurry through the second night's Seder in order to ensure that the afikoman is eaten before halachic midnight.

Mitzvos Performed During the Seder:

- There are two Biblical commandments: 1. Retelling the story of the Exodus. 2. Eating matzah.
- When the Beis Hamikdash existed (and upon its rebuilding, speedily in our times), there were two further commandments: 1. Eating the meat of the korban Pesach. This includes sixteen specific mitzvos that are part of the overall mitzvah. 2. Eating the meat of the korban chagigah (the special shelamim sacrifice offered on erev Pesach).
- There are eight Rabbinical obligations: 1. Placing two cooked foods on the Seder plate (the zero'a and the beitzah) to commemorate the two Biblically mandated sacrifices (Pesach and chagigah). 2. Drinking four cups of wine. 3. Eating and drinking while reclining, in the manner of free men. 4. Eating a small amount of vegetable dipped in a liquid in order to cause the children to wonder and to prompt them to ask questions. 5. Reciting hallel. 6. Eating marror to recall the Biblical commandment to eat marror that was in force during the era of the Beis Hamikdash. 7. Dipping [the marror] in charoses to recall the plague of blood, the clay (the mortar which the Israelite slaves used in their forced labor in Egypt), and an apple (in remembrance of the apple trees under which the Jewish women secretly gave birth in Egypt). 8. Eating the afikomen to recall the korban Pesach that had to be eaten after one had satisfied his appetite with other food. Alternatively, it is a remembrance of the matzah that used to be eaten along with the korban Pesach.

Quantities and Measurements During the Seder:

Please Note: It is appropriate to add a little extra to the minimum quantities used at the Seder, to avoid any doubt of having fulfilled one's obligation, and to compensate for spilled drops of wine and matzah crumbs that have fallen or gotten stuck between the teeth. The minimum quantities established by Chazal refer not only to what is in one's cup or hand, but more precisely, to what is actually swallowed.

- The cup used for wine, for each of the four cups during the Seder, must hold at least a revi'is of wine. One should drink the entire contents of the cup, and in one shot. If this is difficult, a majority of the cup is sufficient. If one paused briefly a number of times while drinking the wine, he is considered – after the fact – as having fulfilled his obligation, provided the time he took from start to finish is not more than the time it usually takes to drink a revi'is of wine.
- One should be extra concerned regarding the first two cups. If he drank it in stages, taking more time than it usually takes to drink a revi'is, he should take the opinion of those authorities who disqualify this conduct into consideration and drink new cups of wine, correctly, but without repeating the blessings. If he drank any of the final two cups in this manner, he should not drink new cups in their stead, because (due to the context in which they are drunk during the Seder) he may appear to be increasing the total number of cups prescribed by Chazal. Rather, he may rely on the authorities who do not consider the cups invalidated by this drinking method. Nevertheless, if he took longer than k'dei achilas p'ras (the average amount of time Chazal determined it took to eat a half loaf of bread in their days), he has not fulfilled his obligation according to all opinions.
- For the final cup it is necessary to drink an entire revi'is.
- Less than a kezayis should be eaten for karpas.
- Two kezaisim must be eaten for motzei matzah. This applies to one who has a Seder plate with three matzos in front of him. Everyone else who is not using a kezayis from the Seder plate can eat one kezayis. One who has a Seder plate but nevertheless ate only one kezayis has – after the fact – fulfilled his obligation.

- One kezayis must be eaten for marror.
- For koreich, one kezayis of matzah and one kezayis of marror must be eaten.
- Two kezeisim must be eaten for afikoman, because there are two views in halachah as to the significance of the afikoman – it recalls either the korban Pesach or the matzah that used to be eaten with the korban, as mentioned above. One who finds eating this quantity difficult may eat just one kezayis, provided that he has in mind to comply with whichever of the two opinions concurs with the original intention of Chazal in establishing the afikoman.
- There are divergent opinions regarding the precise measurement of a kezayis: Regarding the matzah eaten for motzi matzah, which is a Biblical obligation tonight, one should be stringent and follow the view that regards a kezayis equal to the volume of half an average beitzah (chicken egg). The marror, on the other hand, as well as the matzah of koreich and the afikoman, are Rabbinical obligations, and one may follow the view that a kezayis is equal to a little less than the volume of a third of a beitzah. Those who eat two kezeisim for motzi matzah, as mentioned earlier, may measure according to the lesser quantity.
- When translating these measurements into actual pieces of matzah, one must bear in mind that hand baked matzos are not at all uniform in size and thickness. One cannot simply attach a random measure – say, “half a matzah” – to the required quantities. Regarding the hand baked matzos produced under the supervision of the Badatz this year, if one were to give an average estimate (not a precise measure) he could say that the larger definition of a kezayis mentioned above would roughly equal a quarter of a matzah, while the smaller definition of a kezayis would roughly equal one sixth of a matzah. In general, matzos that are larger or thicker require smaller portions of each matzah for a kezayis, while those that are smaller or thinner require greater portions to equal a kezayis.
- In all the above cases, a kezayis must be eaten within k'dei achilas p'ras. Whenever possible, it is appropriate to follow the more conservative definition of this time frame – that is, within three minutes.

- When translated into modern measures, the required quantity of a revi'is of wine equals approximately 3 oz. (Divergent views on its precise quantity range from 2.6 oz. to 3.4 oz.) Calculating with a round kos, the measure of a revi'is equals a volume of 2 average godelim (thumb-widths) in length and the same in width, plus a height of 3.6 godelim. This parallels the volume of an average egg and a half (beitzah u'machatzah).

- Four activities require reclining to the left: 1. Drinking each of the four cups. 2. Eating matzah for motzei matzah. 3. Eating the matzah and marror for koreich. 4. Eating the afikoman.
- One who forgot to recline while drinking the second cup of wine must drink it again correctly. If he forgot to recline for the other three cups, he does not drink them again. However, if at the start of the Seder he resolved that he might drink extra wine between the first and second cup he may indeed go ahead and drink it again correctly.
- If one forgot to recline while eating matzah for motzei matzah, it is best to be stringent and to eat more matzah, correctly. If he forgot to recline during koreich or afikoman, he does not need to repeat the step.
- It is a mitzvah to distribute nuts or similar treats to one's young children on the night of Pesach, before beginning the Seder, to invoke surprise and prompt the children to ask why this night is special. True, there may be no good answer for distributing nuts on this night, but once the children have noticed that something is different about tonight and have even asked about it, they will be open to noticing additional differences, including the matzah and marror, the reclining, and so on. Once they ask about these things, they are ready to hear the story of the Exodus.

The Seder Nights:

- Regarding one's overall spiritual intention during the Seder, the Rebbe Rayatz related: “My father [the Rebbe Rashab] once told me, ‘Yosef Yitzchak! One must reflect (during the Seder), and especially during the opening of the door, that he desires to be a mentch, and then Hashem will help. Do not request material matters – request spiritual matters!’” (Haggadah Shel Pesach Im Likkutei Ta'amim u'Minhagim, excerpted from Sichas Chag Ha-Pesach 5702).
- The order of kiddush tonight is: 1. askinu se'udasa. 2.

borei peri ha-gafen. 3. mekadeish Yisrael ve-haz'manim. 4. shehechiyanu.

- One who recited Shehechiyanu earlier, after lighting the yom tov candles, should not repeat the blessing now (if he recites his own kiddush).

- One who unthinkingly began reciting al netilas yadayim after washing his hands at urchatz (before eating the karpas), and has recited baruch atah Hashem, but has not concluded the blessing, should conclude with the words lamdeini chukecha and continue with the Seder as usual.

- However, if he already concluded the blessing with al netilas yadayim, he should follow the order described below. Note that this advice is based on a transcript of Sichas Acharon Shel Pesach 5719 that was not edited by the Rebbe:

- Since he accidentally recited al netilas yadayim, he must act upon the blessing so that he will not have pronounced Hashem's name in vain. 1. He should immediately perform yachatz (breaking the middle matzah) and motzei matzah (reciting the blessings and eating the matzah). 2. He then performs Karpas without reciting the blessing Borei peri ha-adamah, because it is the kind of vegetable that is commonly eaten as part of a meal – and he has already begun his meal. If he wishes to recite the blessing, he may recite it over a kind of vegetable that does not fit the above category, and he should then have in mind to include the marror and koreich. He should then use the standard vegetable regularly used for karpas. 3. He then recites the entire maggid as usual, and drinks the second cup of wine with a blessing as usual conclusion. 4. He then washes his hands without reciting a blessing, and eats the marror and koreich and continues the Seder as usual until its conclusion.

- The above would apply, it seems, only if he originally washed his hands with the mistaken intention to wash and eat bread (matzah in this case). However, if he had correctly intended to wash his hands in order to eat something dipped in liquid (karpas in this case), but he then accidentally recited the blessing al netilas yadayim out of the force of habit, he should first recite baruch shem kevod malchuso le'olam va'ed (for the blessing recited inadvertently in vain). Then, he must re-wash his hands with the intention to eat matzah – without reciting a blessing (because he has already done that) and then continue with yachatz as described above.

- When rinsing one's fingertips during a meal or before reciting birchas hamazon, he should not pass his wet fingers over his lips. This precaution should be taken throughout the first seven days of Pesach. (On the final day of Pesach, by contrast, it is the Chabad custom to make a point of passing wet fingers across the lips and to create matzah sheruyah at every opportunity.)

- The afikoman must be eaten before 12:56am.

- In his Haggadah, the Rebbe states that the appropriate time to pour the Cup of Eliyahu is “after birchas hamazon (except on specific occasions).” In Sefer HaSichos 5749 (vol. 1, p. 391, fn. 78), the Rebbe explains that the pouring of Eliyahu's Cup “is associated with the second part of the Seder that is connected to the future redemption. For that reason, the cup is generally poured [by the Chabad Rebbeim] after birchas hamazon; it was poured before birchas hamazon only on specific, well-known occasions.” To that note, the Rebbe added a postscript at the bottom of the page – “But as of late, [the Rebbeim] have observed this custom (to pour it after birchas hamazon) every time.”

- Ya'aleh ve-yavo is recited in birchas hamazon. The laws pertaining to one who omitted this prayer is found in the Siddur. The harachaman for yom tov is also recited.

- One is obligated to spend the entire night discussing the laws of Pesach, retelling the story of the Exodus, and recalling the miracles and wonders that Hashem performed for our ancestors. He should continue the discussion until he is overtaken by sleep.

- It is customary to recite just the first part of Shema (until u'vishe'arecha) and hamapil, but not the remaining sections of kri'as shema she-al ha-mitah that are usually recited before retiring at night, for protection. For tonight is leil shimurim, the Night of Guarding, and protection from harmful forces is bestowed from Above.

Tuesday, Nisan 15, the First Day of Pesach

Latest time for reciting the morning Shema throughout Pesach: 9:28am.

- During Shacharis, the amidah for shalosh regalim is recited, followed by the complete hallel. Two sifrei Torah are used. The yud gimmel midos (Thirteen Divine Attributes – Hashem, Hashem, Keil Rachum, etc.) is recited before removing the sifrei Torah from the ark, followed by Ribbono Shel Olam.

- During Musaf, the amidah for shalosh regalim is recited. The Musaf service of the first day of Pesach marks the transition to the phrase morid ha-tal towards the start of the amidah. The congregation is not permitted to begin reciting this phrase until they have heard it for the first time during the chazzan's repetition of the amidah. It is customary for the gabbai to loudly announce the switch before the congregation begins reciting their silent amidah, thereby allowing them to include this phrase before hearing it from the chazzan.

- One who has not yet recited the amidah of Shacharis and hears the gabbai announcing morid ha-tal for the benefit of the congregation must likewise recite this phrase in his private Shacharis amidah – provided he will not be praying with another minyan.

- One who recited mashiv ha-ru'ach instead of morid ha-tal must return to the start of that blessing, because strong rains are considered a sign of misfortune in the summer months.

Lu'ach Colel Chabad reports that one must return even if he corrected himself immediately. Other authorities, however, disagree with this view. Therefore, if he corrected himself instantly and then continued with the rest of that blessing – having already pronounced Hashem's name – he should not return. If this occurs during a weekday, he has the option of repeating the entire amidah once he has concluded the present amidah – as a tefillas nedavah, a voluntary prayer.

If one realized his error only after having concluded that blessing, he must return to the start of the entire amidah.

If he realized his error after pronouncing Hashem's name at the conclusion of that blessing, but before going further (i.e., before reciting the words mechayeh ha-meisim), then as stated in Lu'ach Colel Chabad, he should end his unfinished blessing with the words lamdeini chukecha, and return to the beginning of that blessing.

Similarly, if he realized his error after pronouncing Hashem's name at the conclusion of any of the amidah's subsequent blessings, he should say lamdeini chukecha, and return to the beginning of the entire amidah.

- During Musaf, verses specific to the first days of Pesach are inserted (u'vachodesh ha-rishon, etc.)

- One who forgot to recite the verses describing the Musaf offering, or if he recited verses that rightfully belong to another occasion, but he has not yet pronounced Hashem's name at the conclusion of the blessing, should repeat the entire blessing. If he realized only after pronouncing Hashem's name, he should not repeat the blessing. This is true throughout all of Pesach.

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: Altogether, thirteen sacrifices are offered today in the Beis Hamikdash. (These are listed in the Musaf prayer, which itself takes the place of the additional festival offerings.) Today, the first day of Pesach, the flute is sounded in front of the Altar.

- The chazzan recites tefillas tal during his repetition of Musaf. Birchas kohanim is recited.

- Kiddush includes askinu se'udasa for shalosh regalim, eileh mo'adei, and borei peri ha-gafen.

- One who realizes today, at any time, that he forgot to recite shehechyanu last night should recite it immediately.

- Men do not fulfill their obligation to rejoice on the festival except through drinking a revi'is of wine each day of Pesach, including chol ha-mo'ed. It is possible to discharge this obligation with the cup of wine that he uses for kiddush. The Rebbe Rayatz would drink a revi'is of wine at every meal during Pesach. Children are given nuts and similar treats so that they also experience joy during the festival.

- Although the obligation to rejoice during the festival is a Biblical command, one should certainly not get himself drunk. As Rambam states regarding the joy of the festivals, "One should not enlarge upon the obligation to drink wine."

- One is obligated to derive physical pleasure from the festival. This is accomplished by drinking wine in the middle of each meal, if he can afford it, and by consuming plenty of meat, wine, and confections, according to his ability.

- Some individuals are accustomed to reduce the quantity of matzah eaten during the first day of Pesach, to allow them to eat matzah during the second Seder night in good appetite.

- During Minchah, the amidah for shalosh regalim is recited. One must take care to recite the phrase morid ha-tal.

- One should avoid sitting down to a meal after the tenth halachic hour of the day (4:15pm), so that he will be able to eat the meal of the second night of yom tov in good appetite.

- It is forbidden to prepare anything for the second day of Pesach until 8:18pm.

Tuesday Night, the Second Night of Pesach

- The yom tov candles are lit only after 8:18pm. The fire must be taken from a pre-existing flame.
- Two blessings are recited after lighting the candles: 1. le-hadlik ner shel yom tov. 2. shehechianu.
- Ma'ariv is the same as last night's, but we begin counting the omer tonight immediately after the amidah. Tonight's count is ha-yom yom echad la-omer (day one of the omer count), which parallels the attribute of chesed she-be'chesed (kindness within kindness) and the other meditations referred to in the Siddur.

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: The cutting of the omer (measure of barley) is carried out with great fanfare. The cutting may be performed at any point in the night, tonight. For more details, see Rambam's Hilchos Temidim u'Musafim, chapter 7.

- Tonight's Seder is identical to last night's in all its details, with the exception that no effort is made to eat the afikoman before halachic midnight. The Seder is therefore continued late into the night.

Regarding the length of the second Seder, the Rebbe stated as follows:

- "The Rebbe [Rayatz] related that his father, the Rebbe [Rashab] was accustomed to begin the second Seder at the ninth hour and to conclude it many hours after midnight. [There is a principle that] 'one is obligated to repeat a statement using the identical words used by his teacher' ... [in this spirit,] all students who are attached to and associated with the Rebbe need to conduct themselves according to the Rebbe's order of conduct. In this case, regarding the second Seder, they should begin at the ninth hour and conclude many hours after midnight. During the first Seder, the Rebbe [Rashab] would make a point of eating the afikoman before midnight, but during the second Seder he was not particular about this and he would eat the afikoman after midnight. This was also the conduct of the Rebbe [Rayatz]. Now, seeing that this was the conduct of the Rebbe [Rayatz] and the Rebbe [Rashab], is it understood that this was also the conduct of all the previous Chabad Rebbeim. According to nigleh – the Shulchan Aruch and so on – we do not find any reason to distinguish between the first and second Sedarim in regard to the afikoman's timing. Nevertheless, it is obvious that if our Rebbeim observed this custom, they must have had a mystical reason for doing so. Aside for the inner reasons behind this practice, there is also a straightforward explanation, namely, that they were accustomed to explain the Haggadah at extreme length during the second Seder, and consequently, the eating of the afikoman was delayed until after midnight." (Sichas Leil Beis de-Chag ha-Pesach 5711.)

- In a footnote to Sefer HaSichos 5750, vol. 2, p. 664, the Rebbe notes that "some are accustomed to read [the entire book of] Shir Hashirim at specific occasions in the year. The Chabad custom is not to read it, even without reciting a blessing (apart for exceptions to the rule; some are indeed accustomed to read Shir Hashirim on the Seder night, and specifically during the second Seder night – as was the practice followed by my father [Rabbi Levi Yitzchak])."
- Tonight, the second night of Pesach, kri'as shema she-al ha-mitah is recited as on an ordinary yom tov.

Wednesday, Nisan 16 the Second Day of Pesach

- Shacharis is the same as yesterday's, with the exception that mashiv ha-ru'ach is replaced with morid ha-tal.
- Musaf is the same as yesterday's, with the exception that tefillas tal is not repeated.
- Kiddush is identical to yesterday's.
- It is best to do something during today's meal to commemorate the second meal that was arranged by Queen Esther, which coincided with the second day of Pesach, and which resulted in Haman's hanging that same day. This practice is explained at length in Likkutei Sichos, vol. 3, p. 1016. It is told that during the Rebbe's festival meal of Pesach 5729, he clarified that one is not meant to change something in the meal, but rather, to add something. When asked by one of those present to identify the nature of the addition – "Does the addition take the form of food, a niggun (Chassidic melody), or saying l'chayim?" the Rebbe responded, "You can do all three!"

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: The korban omer is offered today.

- One who forgets to count the omer tonight should count it during the day without a blessing.

- It is customary to study tractate Sotah each day of the omer. Tonight, the title page is studied – meaning that “one reads and studies the tractate’s name from within its title page and he resolves and announces that tomorrow he will begin studying this tractate, one daf a day.” (See the following sichos in Sichos Kodesh: Erev Chag HaShavuot 5743, Shabbos Parshas Bamidbar 5745, Shabbos Parshas Kedoshim 5746.)

- Minchah is identical to yesterday’s.

Yom tov ends at 8:19pm.

- During Ma’ariv, the following are included in the amidah: 1. morid ha-tal, 2. atah chonuntanu, 3. ve-sein berachah (which we begin reciting from tonight), and 4. ya’aleh ve-yavo. The amidah is followed by kaddish shalem, sefiras ha-omer, and aleinu.

- One who accidentally recited ve-sein tal u’matar must return to the start of that blessing (bareich aleinu), regardless of when he realized his error. Even if he has continued to recite a number of further blessings, he must return to the start of bareich aleinu and repeat all the subsequent blessings as well.

Lu’ach Colel Chabad reports that this is the case even if he instantly corrected himself. Other authorities disagree. Therefore, if he instantly corrected himself and also pronounced Hashem’s name at the conclusion of the blessing, he should not return. Otherwise, he should return.

According to Lu’ach Colel Chabad, if he realizes his error after pronouncing Hashem’s name in any of the amidah’s blessings, but has not yet concluded that particular blessing, he should replace the ending with the words lamdeini chukecha, before returning to bareich aleinu.

If he completed the amidah before realizing his error, he must repeat the entire amidah.

- One who forgot to recite ya’aleh ve-yavo and has not yet pronounced Hashem’s name in the following blessing (ha-machazir) should immediately recite ya’aleh ve-yavo and repeat ve-sechezenah.

If he already recited that blessing, but has not yet begun modim, he should immediately recite ya’aleh ve-yavo and continue with modim.

If he already began modim, then as long as he has not yet recited the second yiyu le-ratzon, he should return to retzei.

If he already recited the second yiyu le-ratzon and did not plan to recite any further supplications at that point, he must repeat the entire amidah.

- Havdalah follows its regular order, with the omission of the blessings over the spices and fire. The ordinary concluding phrase is used – *hamavdil bein kodesh le-chol, and not hamavdil bein kodesh le-kodesh. One who accidentally recited hamavdil bein kodesh le-kodesh should hear Havdalah from someone else. If that is not possible, he should repeat the entire Havdalah.

- Tonight, and throughout chol ha-mo’ed, ya’aleh ve-yavo is inserted in birchas hamazon. The laws pertaining to its omission are described in the Siddur. The harachaman for yom tov is not recited.

Thursday, Nisan 17 the First Day of Chol HaMo’ed

- Tefillin are not worn during chol ha-mo’ed.

- Mizmor le-sodah is omitted throughout Pesach, including chol ha-mo’ed.

- Ya’aleh ve-yavo is inserted into the Shacharis amidah. The amidah is followed by half-hallel, kaddish tiskabeil, shir shel yom, kaddish yasom, and the reading of the Torah (2 sifrei Torah, 4 aliyos).

- The following laws apply to one who forgot to recite ya’aleh ve-yavo in Shacharis during chol ha-mo’ed: If he realized before pronouncing Hashem’s name in the following blessing (ha-machazir), he should return to ya’aleh ve-yavo and then repeat ve-sechezenah.

- If he already concluded the blessing of ha-machazir, but has not begun modim, he should recite ya’aleh ve-yavo and continue with modim. If he already began modim, but has not recited the second yiyu le-ratzon, he should return to retzei. If he already recited the second yiyu le-ratzon and did not intend to make further requests, he must repeat the entire amidah. If he already recited Musaf, he should not repeat the amidah of Shacharis.

- Musaf includes additional verses that are recited each day of chol ha-mo’ed Pesach (ve-hikravtem and u’minchasam).

- One who realizes during chol ha-mo’ed that he forgot to recite shehechiyanu on both the first and second nights of Pesach should recite it immediately. The obligation to recite this blessing does not expire until the conclusion of Pesach.

- As mentioned earlier, men do not fulfill their obligation to rejoice during Pesach unless they drink (a revi'is of) wine each day. The Rebbe Rayatz would make a point of drinking a revi'is of wine at each meal during Pesach. Children should be given nuts or other edible treats to draw them into the joy of the festival.
- Regarding one who “disrespects the festivals” (by performing work or eating and drinking as if it were an ordinary weekday), Chazal stated that “even if he has Torah and good deeds to his credit, he has no share in, etc., and it is as if he worshipped, etc.”
- Common examples of activities forbidden during chol ha-mo'ed include conducting business affairs, sewing clothes, laundering clothes (except for the clothes of young children that are soiled relentlessly), writing (unless it is needed for chol ha-mo'ed itself; it is customary to slightly modify one's usual way of writing), printing, nail cutting, and haircutting.
- “Many people transgress the laws of chol ha-mo'ed. The fact that certain activities are permitted on chol ha-mo'ed that are forbidden on an actual day of yom tov has inspired people to permit themselves all other activities as well. No one even attempts to find out what is permitted and what is forbidden ... One who is concerned with the welfare of his soul will consult a sefer or a Rav to learn what should and should not be done in order to avoid transgressing.” (Pele Yo'eitz, Chol Ha-Mo'ed.)
- The study of tractate Sotah begins today with its first page of text (2a-b).
- “[On the first day of Pesach, there is a Biblical obligation to eat matzah, during the Seder.] On the [following] six days, eating matzah is a matter of choice. It is similar to the Ma'ariv service ... It is understood that although it is a matter of choice, it is nevertheless somewhat of a mitzvah ... It is preferable to eat matzah than to eat fruit and other food that are not mitzvos at all.” (Maamar of the Tzemach Tzedek.)
- The Talmud Yerushalmi explains that “the entire prohibition against performing work was instituted only so that they will eat, drink, rejoice, and exert themselves in the study of Torah.”
- A kinnus Torah, arranged by the students, will be held in 770 today after Minchah, at approximately 3:45pm. The Rabbanim, the members of the Badatz, will participate in the kinnus after Ma'ariv, at approximately 8:30pm.

Friday, Nisan 18 the Second Day of Chol HaMo'ed

- Today is the anniversary of the birth of the Rebbe's father, the famed Rav and mekubal Rabbi Levi Yitzchak Schneersohn, which coincides with the anniversary of the Rebbe's bris.
- The tefillos are the same as yesterday's.
- There is an obligation to check one's pockets before sunset on erev Shabbos, especially during chol ha-mo'ed, when it is customary to wear Shabbos and yom tov clothing, increasing the likelihood that he may be carrying something in his pockets.
- Candle lighting is at 7:20pm. Only the regular Shabbos blessing is recited (le-hadlik ner shel Shabbos kodesh).
- Before Minchah, only pasach Eliyahu is recited, but not hodu.

Shabbos, Nisan 19 the Third Day of Chol HaMo'ed

- Kabbalas Shabbos begins with mizmor le-David.
- In bo'i ve-shalom (the final stanza of lechah dodi), the words be-rina u've-tzahalah are exchanged for be-simchah u've-tzahalah.
- The regular Shabbos night amidah is recited, with the inclusion of ya'aleh ve-yavo.
- Shalom aleichem, eishes chayil, and da hi se'udasa are all recited quietly. The regular Shabbos kiddush is recited.
- During birchas hamazon, retzei is recited for Shabbos, directly followed by ya'aleh ve-yavo for chol ha-mo'ed. The harachaman for Shabbos is added (but not the harachaman for yom tov).
- During Shacharis, the regular Shabbos amidah is recited, with the addition of ya'aleh ve-yavo. Half-hallel is recited, not the complete hallel, followed by kaddish tiskabel, shir shel yom, and kaddish yasom.
- It is not the Chabad custom for the congregation to read Shir HaShirim.

- Two sifrei Torah are used for the Torah reading, and there are eight aliyos. The Haftorah is ha-atzamos ha-yeveishos – the prophet Yechezkel’s vision of dry bones turning into living people – because the Resurrection is destined to occur during the month of Nisan. (See Sichas Acharon Shel Pesach 5730 and Shabbos Parashas Acharei 5746.) The final blessing after the Haftorah is read as per a regular Shabbos (yom tov is not mentioned, nor is the blessing concluded with mekadesh ha-Shabbos ve-Yisrael va’ha-zemanim).

- Av harachamim is not recited.

- The Musaf amidah for shalosh regalim is recited, including the parts for Shabbos. The verses for Pesach as well as Shabbos are included (u’ve-yom ha-Shabbos and ve-hikravtem). The central blessing of Musaf is concluded with mekadesh ha-Shabbos ve-Yisrael va’ha-zemanim.

- If one concluded the above blessing without mentioning Shabbos and instantly realized his error, it is best not to repeat the entire blessing to avoid a potentially needless repetition of a blessing. (There is a difference of opinion among the authorities in this case: An incorrect ending usually invalidates a blessing. However, in this case, both Shabbos and yom tov were amply emphasized in the main text of the blessing).

- According to the direction of the Rebbe Rayatz, the paragraph ve-lakachta soless is recited as on every Shabbos.

- Lu’ach Colel Chabad reports that the introduction to kiddush (from mizmor le-David until va-yekadesheihi) is recited silently, followed by savrei maranan and borei peri ha-gafen.

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: When Shabbos coincides with a festival, kohanim from every mishmor (shift) equally divide the lechem ha-panim (showbread), not only the mishmor assigned to that particular day.

- Parshas Kedoshim is read from the Torah during Minchah, followed by the regular Shabbos Minchah amidah, including ya’aleh ve-yavo. Tzidkasecha is not recited.

Motzoei Shabbos, Nisan 20 the Fourth Day of Chol HaMo’ed

Shabbos ends at 8:23pm.

- There are a number of additions to remember during the amidah of Ma’ariv: morid ha-tal (adopted during the Musaf service on the first day of Pesach), atah chonuntanu, ve-sein berachah (adopted during the Ma’ariv service at the conclusion of the second day of Pesach), and ya’aleh ve-yavo.

- The amidah is followed by kaddish shalem, the counting of the omer (the fifth day), and aleinu.

- Vihi no’am and ve-atah kadosh are not recited.

- Havdalah is recited as per a regular motzoei Shabbos. It is the Chabad custom to refrain from using cloves on Pesach, and therefore the blessing over spices is not recited over cloves. Havdalah concludes with hamavdil bein kodesh le-chol (not bein kodesh le-kodesh). If one recited bein kodesh le-kodesh, he should hear havdalah again from someone else. If that is not an option, he should repeat the entire havdalah.

- Ya’aleh ve-yavo is included in birchas hamazon, but not the harachaman for yom tov.

- After havdalah, ve-yiten lecha is recited quietly.

- A melaveh malka is held tonight.

Sunday, Nisan 20, Erev Shevi’i Shel Pesach

- One who forgot to recite shehechiyanu on the first two nights of Pesach, should recite the blessing as soon as he realizes his omission. He may do so any time before the conclusions of the entire festival – until the end of Acharon Shel Pesach.

- One should not sit down to a meal after the tenth halachic hour of the day, so as not to ruin his appetite for tonight’s yom tov meal.

- One should immerse in a mikveh today, to purify himself before the onset of yom tov.

“We saw great revelations by our Rebbeim on Shevi’i Shel Pesach,” the Rebbe Rayatz once revealed. “The order of the day began after midday on erev Shevi’i Shel Pesach. The immersion in a mikveh on erev Shevi’i Shel Pesach was different from the immersion in a mikveh on erev Shabbos and the other festivals, and even from the immersion in a mikveh on erev Rosh Hashanah and erev Yom Kippur.” (Sefer HaSichos 5703, p. 85. See the continuation of that description, at great length.) “The immersion in a mikveh on erev Shevi’i Shel Pesach was strongly connected to those matters that were accomplished in the sefiros of the upper worlds and in the soul levels within each Jewish person.” (Ibid., p. 87)

- A flame must be prepared today that will remain lit at least until the second night of yom tov, from which to draw fire for the second night’s candle lighting. A gas flame may be used for this purpose.
- One should check his pockets before sunset, especially if he wore his Shabbos and yom tov clothing during the day.
- Tzedakah should be given in advance for the two days of yom tov.
- Candle lighting is at 7:22pm, which leaves 18 minutes until sunset. Only the blessing for yom tov (le-hadlik ner shel yom tov) is recited, but not shehechyanu.

Sunday Night, Nisan 21 the Eve of Shevi’i Shel Pesach

The Rebbe Rayatz quoted his father, the Rebbe Rashab, as exclaiming: “Shevi’i Shel Pesach is accessible to all! There are times of revelation of atzmus [Hashem’s ‘Essence’], such as [referred to in the verse (Yeshayah 52:10)], ‘Hashem has revealed His holy arm!’ Well, Shevi’i Shel Pesach is one of these times, where everyone can ‘take.’ We must treat each second as precious!”

- The joy of Shevi’i Shel Pesach and Acharon Shel Pesach is far greater than that of the earlier days of Pesach.
- Ma’ariv begins with shir ha-ma’alos. The amidah for shalosh regalim is recited. It is not followed by hallel as on the first two nights of Pesach. It is followed by sefiras ha-omer.
- One who did not light the yom tov candles before sunset may do so now, provided the fire is drawn from a flame that remained lit from before the start of yom tov.
- Kiddush begins with the askinu se’udasa for shalosh regalim, followed by savri moranan, borei peri ha-gafen, and mekadesh Yisrael ve’ha-zemanim. The blessing of shehechyanu is not recited.
- The Rebbe revealed that although shehechyanu is not recited on the final days of Pesach, the Chabad Rebbeim would make a point of mentioning the blessing through actively discussing its absence on these days. (Sichas Acharon Shel Pesach 5743. For the significance of this blessing’s absence, see Sichas Acharon Shel Pesach 5723 and Likkutei Sichos, vol. 37, p. 19, fn. 43.)

- Ya’aleh ve-yavo is included in birchas hamazon, as well as the harachaman for yom tov. One who omitted ya’aleh ve-yavo should consult the detailed laws in the Siddur.

- In the town of Lubavitch, it was customary to remain awake the entire night of Shevi’i Shel Pesach. The Rebbe Rayatz confirmed, “In Lubavitch, there were nights on which we did not recite keri’as shema she-al ha-mitah [the prayer before retiring] – Shevi’i Shel Pesach....” (Sefer HaSichos 5702, p. 100.) One who remains awake must engage in Torah study all night.
- Unlike the eve of Shavuot, on which it is customary to remain awake all night and individually recite a prepared text (Tikkun Leil Shavuot), the Rebbe Rayatz testified that not only is there no corresponding custom on the eve of Shevi’i Shel Pesach, but “I never even heard so much as a reason supporting the idea of reciting a tikkun on Shevi’i Shel Pesach.” (Ibid.)

- Alos hashachar (break of dawn) is at 4:40am.

Monday, Nisan 21, Shevi’i Shel Pesach

- The earliest time for the morning Shema is at 5:16am.
- The amidah for shalosh regalim is recited during Shacharis, followed by half hallel. When the ark is opened, the yud gimmel midos (Thirteen Divine Attributes – Hashem, Hashem, Keil Rachum, etc.), followed by Ribbono Shel Olam, are recited before removing the sifrei Torah from the ark.
- The congregation stands for the reading of the shirah (az yashir – the Song of the Sea).
- The Haftorah, “Va-yidaber David ess ha-shirah hazos” (from the Book of Shmuel) is read. It is similarly a shirah (song of praise), reflecting the shirah that was read from the Torah, and it also mentions the miracles of the Exodus from Egypt (“He sent forth arrows and dispersed them, lightning, and confounded them; the ocean bed became visible, the foundations of the world were exposed,” etc.).
- The amidah for shalosh regalim is recited during Musaf, including the verses that describe the offerings of the final days of Pesach (ve-hikravtem).
- The kohanim recite birchas kohanim during the chazzan’s repetition.

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: Shalmei simchah [offerings to express the joy of the festivals] are not offered on Shevi'i Shel Pesach “because the [spiritual] level of the joy of Shevi'i Shel Pesach is so very great that it cannot be revealed in an internalized manner, which is accomplished through eating.” (The Alter Rebbe in Likkutei Torah [second ma'amor entitled Sheishes Yamim].)

[In the original ma'amar, the assertion that shalmei simchah are not offered on Shevi'i Shel Pesach is marked with tzarich iyun – “this requires investigation” – in parentheses. The Rebbe explains that this comment was added by the Tzemach Tzedek. For the debate on this issue, see Sha'alos u'Teshuvos Divrei Nechemya, Even Ha'ezer (Likkut). This is explained at length in Sichas Acharon Shel Pesach 5724.]

- Kiddush includes askinu se'udasa, eileh mo'adei, and borei peri ha-gafen.
- As mentioned earlier, men do not fulfill their obligation to rejoice without drinking (a revi'is of) wine each day of Pesach. They may fulfill their obligation with the cup of wine used for kiddush. The Rebbe Rayatz would pointedly drink a cup of wine with each meal during Pesach. Children are given nuts or edible treats to inspire joy.
- Although this rejoicing is a Biblical obligation, one should certainly not get drunk (as Rambam warns – “one should not grow addicted to the wine”). To fulfill the mitzvah of deriving pleasure from the festival, one who can afford should drink a revi'is of wine in the middle of each meal and serve an increased measure of meat, wine, and delicacies.
- The amidah of shalosh regalim is recited during Minchah.
- Tahaluchah: “It has been customary for many years now to visit shuls in many different neighborhoods, on each festival, in order to increase the joy of the festival through uniting with the many Jews of other neighborhoods, and especially through sharing words of Torah (“Hashem’s laws are just, they gladden the heart”) – teachings culled from both nigleh and penimi'us ha-Torah.” (Sefer HaSichos 5751.)
- One should not sit down to a meal from the tenth halachic hour of the day onward, to avoid ruining his appetite for the second night’s festive meal.
- It is forbidden to prepare anything for the second night or day of yom tov before the first day of yom tov has concluded, at 8:25pm.

Monday Night, Nisan 22 the Eve of Acharon Shel Pesach

- The yom tov candles are lit only after 8:25pm. The fire must be drawn from a flame that remained lit from before yom tov.

Only the blessing for yom tov (le-hadlik ner shel yom tov) is recited, but not shehechiyanu.

- Ma'ariv is identical to yesterday’s.
- A revelation of the light of Moshiach shines forth during Acharon Shel Pesach.
- Kiddush is identical to last night’s.
- It is Chabad custom to eat sheruyah – matzah that has come in contact with liquid – during each meal on Acharon Shel Pesach, by night and by day. Is it customary to be extra scrupulous to wet the matzah. “We saw how the Rebbeim were careful to wet their matzah with each and every food [that was served].” (Likkutei Sichos, vol. 22, p. 31. See there at length for the explanation of this practice.)
- After wetting the fingertips with mayim acharonim, they are passed across the lips, as is done throughout the year.

Tuesday, Nisan 23, Acharon Shel Pesach

- Shacharis is identical to yesterday’s.
- The Haftarah “Od ha-yom be-nov” is read, to commemorate the miraculous downfall of Sancheirev that occurred on the night of Pesach. The deeper significance of this Haftarah is that it describes the victory of King Chizkiyahu, whom Hashem initially planned to appoint as the Moshiach. Similarly, the light of Moshiach shines forth on Acharon Shel Pesach.
- Yizkor is recited, followed by av harachamim. Musaf is identical to yesterday’s.
- Kiddush follows the same procedure as yesterday’s.
- It is stated in Lu'ach HaYom Yom and also in Sefer Ha-Minhagim Chabad (p. 43), that “during the day [of Acharon Shel Pesach], we are mehader to recite kiddush, then pray Minchah, and to only then eat the yom tov meal.” In actual practice, this custom is not observed. For the Rebbe’s explanation, see Rad Se'udas Leil Shevi'i Shel Pesach 5729.
- Minchah is identical to yesterday’s.
- The Ba'al Shem Tov would eat three festive meals on Acharon Shel Pesach. He would refer to the final meal as “Moshiach’s se’udah” (Moshiach’s meal).

- The Rebbe Rayatz related that of the Ba’al Shem Tov’s three meals on Acharon Shel Pesach, the final one was held in the afternoon, towards evening (and the close of the festival), and that it was called “Se’udas Moshiach” because the light of Moshiach is revealed on Acharon Shel Pesach.

- The entry for Acharon Shel Pesach in Lu’ach HaYom Yom reports that “the practice was introduced in the year 5666, whereby the students of Tomchei Temimim would eat together on Acharon Shel Pesach in the study hall ... The Rebbe [Rashab] ate the festive meal of Acharon Shel Pesach together with the students, and he instructed that each student be given four cups [of wine]. He then announced, ‘This is se’udas Moshiach!’”

- The Rebbe added, “It is understood that this directive [of the Rebbe Rashab] was not limited to that particular year. Rather, it was for all years [to follow].” (Likkutei Sichos, vol. 4, p. 1299.) For the significance of this practice’s introduction specifically in the year 5666, see Likkutei Sichos, vol. 7, p. 277.

- For the se’udas Moshiach, it is customary to wash the hands before sunset and eat at least a kebeizah of matzah, drink four cups of wine, and sing the niggunim of the Chabad Rebbeim.

- The Rebbe issued various directives, dispersed across many sichos, regarding the four cups of wine at this meal. The following are only a partial collection of these directives:

- An effort should be made to ensure that the wine distributed at the se’udas Moshiach should specifically belong to the Yeshivah administration. Not to drink the four cups one after the other, and if it was done in this manner, one has not fulfilled the intention of these four cups; they should be separated by at least a niggun. On another occasion, the Rebbe stated that these cups could be taken with or without gaps in between. Elsewhere the Rebbe directed that because “song is sung only over wine” [referring to the Levi’im chanting Tehillim in the Beis Hamikdash during the pouring of wine libations], therefore the drinking of the four cups must be accompanied with song – and it should certainly be a joyful song. The cups should be completely filled. After the four cups, one may add a fifth in order to say l’chaim. At the same time, care must be taken to avoid intoxication, by drinking only the majority of each cup, and similar acceptable measures.

“In addition to the fact that all matters of Torah and mitzvos (our activities and divine service) serve to hasten and bring the future redemption, there is a special power in those activities that are more openly associated with Moshiach. Among such activities is the eating of se’udas Moshiach on Acharon Shel Pesach and drinking the four cups of wine during that meal. Just as the four cups on the first nights of Pesach correspond to the Torah’s four expressions of redemption (the Exodus from Egypt), similarly, the four cups of se’udas Moshiach on Acharon Shel Pesach are associated with future redemption. The fact that se’udas Moshiach includes the same number of cups as the first nights of Pesach alludes to the power that every Jew has to immediately proceed from the redemption from Egypt (the four cups on the first nights of Pesach) to the future redemption (the four cups on the final day of Pesach) – meaning the Redemption in its literal sense, ‘below ten tefachim!’” (Ve-hecherim 5749 – Sefer HaMa’amarim Melukat, vol. 3, pp. 128-129.)

“While reciting the above ma’amor, the Rebbe inserted the following as an independent directive: ‘Certainly, everyone will complete all four cups. Even those who are in doubt whether they drank the four cups with the intention that they are associated with the Redemption, they will certainly make it up. After all, these four cups must be drunk in a manner of certainty and clarity. For, as mentioned, this hastens the Redemption.’” (Ibid., fn. 20.)

“By celebrating Moshiach’s meal even during the times of exile, we thereby show that we Jews refuse to accept the state of exile. With this approach, we will very soon ‘burn down the walls of exile,’ to paraphrase the Rebbe [Rayatz]. Moshiach will be revealed and he will lead us upright to our Land!” (Likkutei Sichos, vol. 7, p. 274.)

“This meal is associated with Moshiach. We must certainly be extremely joyful. At the present time, “It is forbidden for a person to fill his mouth with laughter,” whereas regarding the future it is stated, “Then our mouths will be filled with laughter.” We also witnessed this conduct on the part of the Rebbe [Rayatz], who was especially joyful at this meal, more so than during the rest of Pesach, except for the Sedarim, during which he was especially joyful – because as stated in Kisvei HaArizal, we must be joyful at that time. In general, though, from the entire Pesach, the joy of Acharon Shel Pesach was unique. Say l’chaim! Sing a happy niggun!” (Hanachah of Sichas Acharon Shel Pesach 5713.)

During the farbrengen on Acharon Shel Pesach 5712 (as recorded in the hanachah), the Rebbe announced:

“The Rebbe [Rayatz] was accustomed to dance ‘Moshiach’s tantz’ on Acharon Shel Pesach. This phrase – ‘Moshiach’s tantz’ – could be explained in two ways: 1. It is a dance that is associated with, and creates a preparation for Moshiach. 2. It is a dance in which Moshiach personally participates.

“Now,” the Rebbe continued, “since the interpretation has been left up to us to decide, we will choose the explanation that is better for us, meaning, the second interpretation – that Moshiach is already present and he is participating and dancing his dance together with us. Therefore, sing a joyful niggun now – Nye szuritzi chlopszi! First sing the Alter Rebbe’s niggun, then sing Nye szuritzi chlopszi. (As is known, the Rebbe [Rayatz] would sometimes first sing the Alter Rebbe’s niggun and then Nye szuritzi chlopszi, and sometimes Nye szuritzi chlopszi came first, followed by the Alter Rebbe’s niggun.) And with this niggun of Nye szuritzi chlopszi, let them dance Moshiach’s tantz!”

At that point in the farbrengen, the Rebbe instructed the Chassidim to sing “a lively niggun” by way of preparation for the Alter Rebbe’s niggun, and that the fourth stanza of the Alter Rebbe’s niggun be repeated eight times. He then announced:

“Now sing Nye szuritzi chlopszi with great joy, with dance – Moshiach’s tantz! In keeping with the two interpretations mentioned earlier, each person should picture to himself that Moshiach, regarding whom it is stated, ‘He shall be exalted and lifted up, and he shall be very high’ [Yeshayah 52:13], higher even than Adam ha-rishon, even in his exalted state before the sin, is dancing together with us. And at the same time, this dance is a prelude to, and is associated with Moshiach.” The Chassidim then sang Nye szuritzi chlopszi. Then Rebbe motioned with his holy hand that each person should dance in his place. The Rebbe himself also danced in his place with intense joy.

- One whose meal extends into the night after Acharon Shel Pesach, beyond tzeis ha-kochavim, is permitted to eat chametz during his meal – despite the fact that he has not yet prayed Ma’ariv, nor has he recited any form of havdalah. This is allowed because the prohibition against eating chametz during Pesach is not dependant on whether he recites havdalah. This concept is explained in Likkutei Sichos, vol. 22, p. 36 (based on Sichas Acharon Shel Pesach 5727 and other talks).

- Nevertheless, in the hanachah of that same sichah, the Rebbe is quoted as saying, “However, I did not want to mention this earlier, because I would thereby invite this [conduct at the present farbrengen], and I never saw our Rebbeim conducting themselves in this manner. Nevertheless, according to the halachah, we are permitted to eat as much chametz as the se’udah of Shlomo, [and we may do so even] before reciting birchas hamazon – with joy and gladness of heart!”

Yom tov ends at 8:26pm.

- It is permissible to use the chametz that was sold to a non-Jew for the duration of Pesach from the moment that Pesach has ended, without waiting at all. It is the longstanding custom of the Rabbanim of the Badatz to exit in the middle of the farbrengen in 770 in order to buy back the chametz from the non-Jew immediately upon the conclusion of the festival.
- During Ma’ariv, one must remember to recite morid ha-tal, ata chonuntanu, and ve-sein berachah. The amidah is followed with kaddish shalem, the counting of the omer (for the eighth day), and aleinu.
- The regular text of Havdalah is recited, without the blessings on the spices and the flame.

Wednesday, Nisan 23, Isru Chag Pesach

○ A law for the Era of Redemption: Once the festival has concluded, the utensils and equipment of the Beis Hamikdash are removed from their places and immersed. This is done to purify the Courtyard from the ritual impurity of those ignorant of the laws of ritual purity who came in contact with the equipment during the festival.

Reminder: One who has not yet recited the blessing on blooming trees this month, should do so now. The blessing is:

בְּרִיךְ אַתָּה ה' אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם שֶׁלֹא חָסַר בְּעוֹלָמוֹ כָּלֹם וּבָרָא בּוֹ בְּרִיּוֹת טוֹבוֹת וְאֵילָנוֹת טוֹבוֹת לְיִהְיוֹת בָּהֶם בְּגֵי אָדָם.

- It is forbidden for any Jew to derive benefit from absolute grain-based chametz that belonged to a Jew and that remained the property of the Jew during part or all of Pesach. This is a penalty imposed by Chazal for his having kept chametz during Pesach, thereby transgressing the Torah’s prohibitions against owning and seeing chametz in one’s possession during Pesach. Chazal extended their absolute ban on such chametz even to a case where the owner was a victim of circumstance and was unable to destroy or remove his chametz, or even where he was altogether unaware of its existence.

- By contrast, chametz that was owned by a non-Jew during Pesach may be used and even eaten.

- The day following a festival is referred to as Isru Chag. This name is derived from the verse, Isru chag ba-avosim ad karnos ha-mizbe'ach ("Bind the festival [offering] with cords until [you bring it to] the horns of the altar" – Tehillim 118). Taken literally, the phrase isru chag means to bind the festival itself, which Chazal explain as connecting (binding) the day following the festival with the actual festival, i.e., to celebrate in honor of the festival that has just ended. This celebration, Chazal explain, takes the form of feasting, as alluded in the alternative meaning of ba-avosim – with fattened cattle. The verse's final phrase, "To the horns of the altar," allude to the fact that whoever celebrates by eating and drinking a little more than usual on the day after the festival, and treats it as a mini-festival in honor of the departed festival, is considered having built an altar and offered an actual sacrifice to Hashem.

- It is customary to eat and drink a little more than usual and to avoid fasting altogether. Even a bride and groom on the day of their wedding, and even one who marks the anniversary of his parent's passing, is prohibited from fasting. This is only a custom, because according to the strict law, fasting is indeed permitted on Isru Chag Pesach. Nevertheless, withholding oneself from fasting in honor of Isru Chag brings blessing.

It is customary in these countries to omit the following throughout the month of Nisan: tachanun, ve-hu rachum (usually recited on Mondays and Thursdays), lamnatze'ach and tefillah le-David (as per minhag Sefarad), av harachamim after reading the Torah on Shabbos morning, and tzidkasecha in Shabbos Minchah. Tziduk ha-din is not recited over a passing, nor are eulogies delivered. Fasting is also avoided during Nisan, even private fasts, and even on erev Rosh Chodesh Iyar. One does not fast on the anniversary of his parent's passing.

- It is customary to refrain from holding weddings and taking haircuts between Pesach and Shavuot. This is a period of mourning for the twenty-four thousand students of Rabbi Akiva who perished at this time of the year. It is permissible to arrange engagements, including engagement parties, provided they do not include dancing. Needless to say, it is forbidden to hold events that include dancing and merriment for lesser reasons. Friends may hold joyful gatherings, provided they do not involve dancing and extreme joy.

As recorded in the hanachah to Sichas Shabbos Parshas Acharei 5711, the Rebbe stated that "the Rebbe [Rayatz] was accustomed to bless people with, ah gezuntzen zummer ("Have a healthy summer") at this time of year. In earlier years, he used to precede this blessing with a statement – that 'in Poland, they are accustomed to give a blessing for a healthy summer.' In later years, he no longer offered an introduction or excuse. Rather, he would issue a straightforward blessing – 'Have a healthy summer!' We should add that he did not intend merely material blessing, but also spiritual blessing. [To explain:] It is common practice – among Jews as well – to devote the summer months to the health of the body. Now, seeing that as Rambam states as halachah, "maintaining a whole and healthy body is included in the ways in which we serve Hashem," it is clear that taking care of the body's health during the summer months must be accomplished in a manner that also advances one's spiritual affairs. Have a healthy summer, physically and spiritually!"

We wish our readers and the entire Crown Heights community, among the entire community of Anash worldwide, and all our fellow Jews, a kosher and happy Pesach, a healthy summer, and above all, the immediate revelation of the true and complete Redemption!

"Hag'alah involves very many intricate details of law, and not every person is knowledgeable in these details. Therefore, unlike the current practice [whereby each person attempts to perform his own hag'alah], it is appropriate and correct to give all utensils to a person who is knowledgeable in Torah and expert in the laws of hag'alah - he personally should be the one to perform hag'alah."
